

Hurricane Hazel Deals Utilities Severe Jolt But Worst Blow Bypasses Monroe County

69 Deaths Attributed To Hurricane

By The Associated Press
HURRICANE Hazel, exacting a death toll of at least 69 while ravaging an eight-state area, District of Columbia and Canada, caused hundreds of families in the Pittsburgh, Pa., area to flee their home today as the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers rose above flood stage.

The raging waters, caused by torrential rains, later began to recede.

But like the rest of areas which felt Hazel's wrath, the Pittsburgh section, reported untold millions of dollars in property damage. No deaths or injuries were known immediately.

Termed one of the worst continental storms of the century, and spawned 11 days ago in the Windward Islands about 1,600 miles east-southeast of Miami, Hazel's 130 m.p.h. center devastated the island of Haiti last Tuesday, leaving reportedly more than 100 dead on that tropic isle.

She smashed north-northwest to bash the U. S. mainland early Friday. Her hurricane winds were "calmed" to gale force by Pennsylvania's Allegheny and Pocono Mountains—but she picked up enough punch to disrupt upper New York State and take nine lives in the area.

Not counting those reported missing, known fatalities by states are: New York, 14; North Carolina, 10; Delaware, 4; Virginia, 7; Pennsylvania, 11; Maryland, 6; New Jersey, 5; Washington, D. C., 3; Massachusetts, 1; Connecticut, 1; and Canada, 7.

Hazel isn't "dead," the New York Weather Bureau said early today and damage was estimated in the millions as some districts came under the heaviest rainfall of the century.

Heavy Rains Flood Rivers

PITTSBURGH—Torrential rains and high winds—partially due toed hundreds of small western Pennsylvania streams—driving thousands from their homes and causing damage estimated in the millions of dollars.

At least four persons are dead—three from drowning and one, a woman suffered a heart attack after being evacuated from her home.

The big industrial city of Pittsburgh braced itself for high water from the Ohio, Allegheny and the Monongahela Rivers. The crest was expected late in the afternoon.

The Weather Bureau said the Ohio River will probably crest about five feet above the 25 foot flood stage in Pittsburgh. That would cause damage only in a small section.

Most of the affected communities are located along the Monongahela and Allegheny Rivers above Pittsburgh. The Weather Bureau said about 6 inches of rain fell over the Western Pennsylvania watershed yesterday.

The Pennsylvania Railroad said big trees and debris from swirling waters blocked many miles of its tracks in eastern Pennsylvania between Philadelphia and Harrisburg. That section of the state was in a more direct route from hurricane Hazel, which swept the eastern seaboard yesterday.

The rain started pelting Pennsylvania early yesterday morning. The Weather Bureau said at that time that a cold front moving from the west collided with pressure areas of the hurricane and caused the rain.

Later in the day the Weather Bureau said the continued rain and from the fringe of Hazel.

Linda Metzgar Is Improved

LINDA METZGAR was reported "slightly improved" today at General Hospital.

The five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Metzgar Jr. is under treatment for a double fracture of the skull received when she was attacked near her Stroudsburg RD1 home last Tuesday.

Police are investigating the incident.

Civil Defense Unit Goes Into Action

MONROE COUNTY'S Civil Defense system got its first real workout yesterday and, judging from the promptness and precision of its performance, came through with flying colors.

First official warning that Hurricane Hazel's sweep of destruction might hit Monroe County came from State CD headquarters shortly after noon.

A conference of top-level CD officials was called immediately. At a mid-afternoon meeting in the Civil Defense office in Monroe County Courthouse, the leaders drew up a plan for action—including an outline of emergency measures to be taken in case disaster hit the area heavily.

Judge Fred W. Davis, Civil Defense director for Monroe County, conferred with his assistants and Jack Anderson, Eastern Area Director of Civil Defense for nearly an hour in the office.

Members of the Red Cross disaster committee were in attendance and plans were made for close cooperation between the two systems. Red Cross committee members at the meeting were Russell Harmon, Henry G. Tucker and Harold T. Rinker.

Others at the meeting were Amzi F. Altomose, area coordinator for the State disaster committee; Paul M. Crawn, executive director of Civil Defense for Monroe County and Mrs. Catherine Miller, office coordinator and secretary at CD headquarters.

A decision was made to contact zone leaders in each of Monroe County's five CD districts, explain to them the hurricane's possible effect on the area and alert them to notify their own units.

After the meeting broke up, Crawn began telephoning the zone chairmen—Henry C. Hoffman in Brodheadsville for Zone One (the West End); Franklin Weller, Zone Two (Tannersville, Stroudsburg, Sciota); Thomas Kistler Sr., Zone Three (Smithfield, Middle Smithfield, East Stroudsburg and Delaware Water Gap); Marshall Reese, Zone Four (Barrett and Paradise); Clude Bush, Zone Five (Tohyanna, Coolbaugh Townships and Mount Pocono borough).

With the zone heads notified, county Civil Defense, office settled down to a minute-by-minute effort to trace the path of the hurricane, find out if, or when, the wind was slated to hit Monroe.

First reports were skimpy and sketchy. The original bulletin from State said only:

"Latest official weather bureau information indicates that those portions of the State south and east of the Allegheny mountains will be subject to heavy rains and high winds this afternoon and evening. Damage from wind and water likely. Auxiliary policemen and wardens may be required for highway emergencies caused by local flooding and downed wires. Upon request from county disaster chairman of local government officials

BIGGEST VICTIMS OF HAZEL'S FURY were dozens of trees in all areas of the county. This giant was felled on S. Courtland St. in front of the Central Labor Union; blocked traffic for nearly an hour before street was ripped off. Other trees set up formidable roadblocks in all regions; wind-whipped branches and dropping limbs caused utility company crewmen more headaches than Hazel's buff. (Staff Photo by Randolph)

State Counts 11 Dead, Damages In Millions

By The Associated Press

HURRICANE Hazel, one of the most capricious and violent storms in recent years, bashed its way through a wide belt in Pennsylvania last night, leaving at least 11 dead, millions of dollars property damage and widespread disruption of normal life.

Painfully and wearily, people in the affected areas today set their hands to the huge job of cleaning up and repairing the harm. Over many counties in the eastern and central regions lay tons of debris—uprooted trees, snarled wires, tangled fencing, shattered outbuildings, slabs of houses and barns, battered street and highway signs. In some places the scene at chilly daybreak was not unlike that left by the passage of a fighting force. The bright sunlight, which came a little later, softened the grimness of these landscapes, but it was a wry and ironic spotlighting of Hazel's fury.

In western Pennsylvania swollen streams forced hundreds of families to forsake their homes. As emergency crews went to work the torrents started to subside.

As thousands of people pitched into a weekend of toil, imposed upon them by the storm, they compared notes on an experience the like of which is rare in Pennsylvania.

For most it was a night of tension, anxiety, dislocations, uncertainty, even isolation.

In some homes, lacking either gas or electricity, families fell back upon the old Army game of eating out of cans or trying their luck with spirit stoves.

Gradually, as more and more reports came through, CD officials were able to piece together a more complete portrait of Hazel. It was an ugly picture filled with dark inkblots of things to come.

By 8:30, the Civil Defense office had received a brief, threatening prediction.

The report said the hurricane—if it followed its previous pattern—was slated to strike Monroe County "between 10 and 12 midnight."

It was rough, challenging going everywhere, calling for endless ingenuity, good neighborliness, patience and plenty of stamina.

In the central Pennsylvania area the storm played havoc with communications and power lines. Harrisburg and neighboring towns reported many power failures.

Hundreds of trees were uprooted before the storm finally lost its punch about 9 p.m.

Flooding conditions were reported in streams and creeks feeding into the Susquehanna River.

Meanwhile, the Weather Bureau predicted sharp rises in the West Branch and main stem of the Susquehanna to come sometime today. In areas along the Juniata River, which feeds into the Susquehanna, rainfalls of up to five inches were reported.

Trains and buses for the most part were running on schedule today. The Lackawanna Railroad reported only one passenger train running late—that being the one enroute from Buffalo to New York. Some buses ran as much as two hours late last night, but were on time this morning.

A disruption of electric power last night forced The Daily Record to delay publication of today's issue for approximately 12 hours.

The power shutoff occurred about 7:30 last night and made publication at the regular time impossible. Staff members reported back to work early today and started where they left off last night.

Electric service was restored about 9:15 this morning, putting the Associated Press back in operation and permitting work to resume in the composing room.

Storm Center Hits To West Of Poconos

HIGH WINDS from Hurricane Hazel hit Monroe County last night—the worst part of the storm passed it by.

Until 10:30 p.m., when skies began to clear and winds died down, officials had believed the storm would hit directly through Monroe with winds of 90 to 100 miles per hour.

Although the center of the hurricane did not strike locally, official wind-measuring instruments at High Point, Mount Pocono, registered peak winds of 40 to 45 miles per hour with gusts ranging upward to 67 miles per hour. To the west of Monroe County, central Pennsylvania communities which felt the brunt of the hurricane, had winds of over 80 miles an hour.

According to weather observer Harry Greene the High Point gauges measured winds of 35 miles per hour or more continuously from 5 to 9 p.m. The worst of the gusts were also recorded between those hours, Greene said.

No official instruments for the measurement of wind are available in other areas of the county. Wind damage in Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg and other areas, however, was as great or greater than that in the Mount Pocono vicinity.

On Stroudsburg's lower Main St. high winds tore the roof from the Five Point Tavern between 7 and 8 p.m. The roof was lifted completely from the tavern building and was left suspended from utility wires and cables until workmen removed it early this morning.

Wind also peeled back the roofing on the East Stroudsburg Bedding Co. building across the street from the tavern.

Residents of the Normal Hill section of East Stroudsburg reported heavy wind damage to properties there. Most of the damage was confined to garages, parked autos and a house trailer, residents said.

High winds felled dozens of trees all over the county. In Hamilton Township alone a motorist counted four trees blown across one dirt route. Only a few of the trees were blown across the major traffic outlets in the area. Routes 209 and 611 were relatively clear west and north of Stroudsburg but falling trees and branches cluttered regions of the two routes to the east and south of the borough.

State police at Mount Pocono said wind damage to trees in that region had been heavy during the night. Police notified highway department workers of cases where trees blocked highways as soon as the calls came in, the barracks said.

Wind damage in the West End was reported moderately heavy; also. No immediate estimate of cost of damages in any area was available, however, this morning.

Several smokehouses, garages and small barns were reported damaged by the winds in the West End, in Hamilton, Pocono and Stroud Townships.

Most of the damage in Monroe County seemed to have been confined to destruction of trees. Only a few isolated examples of heavy building damage had been reported early today.

Trains and buses for the most part were running on schedule today. The Lackawanna Railroad reported only one passenger train running late—that being the one enroute from Buffalo to New York. Some buses ran as much as two hours late last night, but were on time this morning.

Daily Record Delayed By Power Failure

A disruption of electric power last night forced The Daily Record to delay publication of today's issue for approximately 12 hours.

The power shutoff occurred about 7:30 last night and made publication at the regular time impossible. Staff members reported back to work early today and started where they left off last night.

Electric service was restored about 9:15 this morning, putting the Associated Press back in operation and permitting work to resume in the composing room.

Strong Winds Fell Power, Telephone Lines In Region

UTILITY COMPANIES—and their subscribers—got the roughest treatment from Hurricane Hazel last night.

An estimated 20,000 customers were affected by the storm. Electric lights, heating, refrigeration and phone service were all disrupted by the storm.

Ted Henning, manager of Metropolitan Edison Co. said that firm's electric service had been "totally disrupted".

A Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. official said their service was about "90 percent out" in the Stroudsburg area. Total number of Bell Telephone Co. stations estimated out of order was set at 1700 by Budd Van Horn, company manager in Stroudsburg.

Major source of trouble for Metropolitan Edison was in the loss of transmission lines, Henning said. Biggest losses in transmission occurred in the Stroudsburg-Dingmans Ferry, Delaware Water Gap-Cherry Valley, Saylorsburg and Burston St., East Stroudsburg lines, he said.

The Burston St. transmission line feeds power to "almost all of East Stroudsburg borough", Henning said.

At the peak of Metropolitan Edison's trouble "every one of our 6,000 customers was out" of service, the manager indicated. First line to go back in service was the transmission into the Saylorsburg-Snydersville area.

Henning said his workmen expected to have all of East Stroudsburg back in service by noon today and by 5 p.m. the crews should have most of the service restored as far as Milford. About half of Metropolitan Edison's subscribers were still without service at 10 a.m. today.

Pennsylvania Power and Light had restored "about 75 percent" of its service in the two boroughs by 10 a.m., a spokesman said but the company still had "an awful lot of mopping up to do", according to the official.

Nearly P.P. and L. difficulties were caused by falling limbs dropping on power lines, he said. The company's biggest problem was "getting feeder lines" back in service, he said.

An estimated 4,500 subscribers were affected by the P.P. and L. service disruption, he indicated.

Power service in the Pocono Lake area was totally blacked out during the night. Workmen were still trying to restore service to the area late this morning.

Villages affected by the power cut-off were Pocono Lake, Pocono Summit, Blakeslee and Pocono Pines.

The biggest portion of trouble for Bell Telephone service crews was centered in rural areas, Van Horn said. To help restore service to all areas of Monroe County about 20 additional repairmen had been dispatched from other areas, he said at 10 a.m. today.

Bell workmen received two emergency calls—both from fire houses. Van Horn said crewmen restored service with a matter of minutes to the Pocono Township and Marshall Creek fire houses after their telephones were temporarily knocked out of order.

To help maintain smooth service for those subscribers whose phones were still in order and attempt to speed up restoration of service, Bell put an additional 15 operators on duty in the Stroudsburg switchboard office.

Mrs. Lulu Harvey, supervisor, said the number of calls handled through the local office yesterday and last night was "about 50 percent above the number for an average day."

About 45,000 local calls passed through the board, Mrs. Harvey said. More than 5,000 out of town calls were also handled from Stroudsburg to other points.

In addition to these the local office received an estimated 7,000 incoming calls, Mrs. Harvey said, making a total of 57,000 or more calls handled in the single 24-hour period.

Bell crews were called into action during the early part of the day. By mid-afternoon linemen were getting more calls than they could handle.

Power lines provided trouble spots for local firemen throughout the afternoon. At 1:30 p.m. two power lines caught fire on Fulmer Ave. Stroudsburg firemen answered that alarm and a second one, which also involved fallen wires, at 101 First St. at about 3:30 p.m.

Broken wires gave storm-skies the appearance of a thunder and lightning storm during the night. Between 4 and 8 p.m., when the winds were at their highest velocity, strong arcs of harsh blue-white light burst out in isolated areas in both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg as main lines fell to

Red Cross Calls Disaster Committees

RUSSELL HARMON, chairman of the American Red Cross disaster committee, said he alerted all key personnel of the Red Cross disaster units following a conference with other committee leaders and a collaborative planning session with Monroe County Civilian Defense authorities.

Mr. Harmon said Mrs. Ida Kunkle, executive secretary of the Red Cross chapter here joined in the alerting and planning session. Other members of the general disaster committee attending the planning session were Henry Tucker and Harold Rinker.

Leaders of key groups were first alerted and they in turn called their personnel to prepare them for the emergency call, if and when it came.

Harmon said leaders of units of the Disaster Committee were alerted. Mrs. Walter Dreher, vice chairman of volunteer service groups: Canteen, Gray Ladies, Nurses Aides and Motor Corps.

Also called were Jesse Flory of survey committee which was prepared to assess damages and list requirements in damage areas.

Jim Shiffer's food committee set up its table for obtaining any food supplies which might be required. Jack Kerlin was called to set up as purchasers and supplies group with the aid of Russell Balmer.

Loring Cramer prepared his shelter committee, selecting key points in suitable substantial spots to shelter any persons who were made homeless because of the storm. Such public buildings as schools, churches, Court House, etc. were listed for use.

Mrs. E. B. Turn's clothing detail was alerted to prepare for any clothing requirements which might be created by the storm.

Harmon said he contacted C. B. Altomose to handle registration matters—the listing of people who came under the care of the disaster operations.

Staff aid services were readied in case clerical work was needed.

All of this operation was dovetailed neatly with the Civilian Defense organization.

Palmerton Man Is Electrocutted

PALMERTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Russell Breiner, local zinc factory worker, was electrocuted last night when he picked up a fallen wire in the back yard of his home.

A neighbor, Steve Nagy, said he saw a wire flashing in the yard and saw a man approaching. Nagy shouted a warning, he said, but Breiner apparently didn't hear.

Nagy's daughter, Constance, 16, said she saw Breiner pick up the wire. Then after a sudden flash, she saw Breiner fall to the ground. Also standing nearby was Breiner's son, Russell Jr., 14.

Artificial respiration was administered the stricken man en route to Palmerton Hospital, but he was pronounced dead on arrival.

The ground, spewing flames and sparks of electric fire.

When the winds died away the power lines stopped swaying and twisting. But repairmen still had plenty to worry over before daybreak—many of the lines which had already fallen had to be repaired before any service to whole regions could be restored.

A Little Bit of Heaven

Look into her eyes. I see a little bit of Heaven there.
Look into her eyes. I see no anguish, no worry, no fear of what tomorrow will bring.
I see faith, pure and shining.
Look into her eyes. I see the peace our world longs for. I see joy and happiness.
I see God's hand upon her.
Look into her eyes. I see love and trust and hope. I see a child of God.
O little child, I look into those eyes, and I hear our Lord say: "Unless you become as little children you shall not enter into the Kingdom of God."
Let us go to Church this Sunday. Let us pray for child-like faith. Let us bring a little bit of Heaven to our world.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Incredible Apathy

Reports that the applicants for admission to the new Air Force Academy number only a bare 500 youths as against the more than 5,000 expected to apply give us certain misgivings about the younger generation of airmen.

Not that we are ready to view with alarm every single member of the generation from which the new Air Academy cadets must come, for that would be a far too sweeping and doubtless unfair generalization.

Yet we cannot but be concerned about the failure of the youngsters to leap at the opportunities available to them in the professional ranks of the Air Force, opportunities vouchsafed in few other lines of endeavor.

This incredible apathy is all the more difficult to understand when we consider the superior records hung up by our airmen both in peace and war. Ever since the earliest beginnings of aviation in our armed services, men of daring and courage have blazed the way and not a few have performed equally outstanding flights in the interests of civil aviation development.

Pilots, navigators, engineers, gunners, radio operators and every form of airmen who maintain the planes have added to the glory that is the history of our air arm.

Why, then, this sudden lack of enthusiasm among the young men of our nation who have been offered opportunity for an education and career through the new Air Academy at Colorado Springs?

Surely we cannot believe that the youngsters of today are not of the same stripe as those who have gone before. This we cannot and do not believe, but it is still confusing in the extreme to hear that the young men are not lining up to accept Uncle Sam's splendid offer.

Liberal Youthfulness?

It used to be said that youth goes with political liberalism as ham with eggs, but this is scarcely correct as one surveys the Democratic candidates running briskly for election to the United States Senate on November 2.

The Democratic party long has boasted of being the more liberal of the two major parties, yet the 27 Democrats with previous service in the Senate or House, now running for the upper chamber, average just a fraction below 60 years of age.

Of course, it must be admitted that the 19 Republican Senatorial candidates who are Congressional veterans average a sprightly 56.6 years, including the recently re-elected Margaret Chase Smith of Maine who bears her 65 years gracefully. But let's remember we are talking about youth and liberalism.

However, to support the point that age and political coloration follow no set pattern of correlation this fall, look at a couple of candidates whose ages are far apart: Sen. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island, who was 87 last week, and no conservative either. Fact is his voting record is at least as consistently pro-New Deal-Fair Deal as the youngest Senatorial candidate, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, aged 43.

With Green as the Democratic (Liberal?) bellweather, we have such other elderly candidates as Neely of West Virginia, 80; Murray of Montana, 78; Gillette of Iowa, 75; McGill of Kansas, 74, and of course the former "Veep," Barkley of Kentucky, who is almost 77.

Webster translates the Latin derivation of the word Senate as "an assembly of older men or elders." This might incense Kuchel of California, who is only 44 and his fellow West Coast associate, V-P Nixon, a bare 41.

George Sokolsky Says...

Politicians Will Sink So Low As To Involve Dogs In Very Dull Campaign

It is peculiarity of a humorless period that Defense Secretary Charles Wilson's analogy, comparing bird dogs to kennel dogs, should be used to create a political hullabaloo by liberal-minded and witless persons who do not realize that to one who loves dogs, dogs are people.

They have character and personality and are so understanding that sometimes one wonders whether long association with man has not, in some manner, given to the dog the better qualities of the human and to some extent, the lower qualities of the dog. No dog would smoke marijuana or voluntarily get drunk. The other day, at a very early hour in the morning, I was walking my keeshond, Joe, in Riverside Park. He stopped to gaze upon two humans, a male and a female, who were having breakfast on a park bench. The breakfast consisted of one large bottle of what, even at a distance, smelt like raw whiskey. Joe passed on in high disdain.

Joe's real name is Walsdang but we call him Joe for short. A lady, who can lash it out if she chooses to, asked me if I had named him after Joe Stalin or Joe McCarthy. I told her that as he had come to me during the famed Mundt hearings, I called him Joe for the Senator. She said that the Senator deserved to be named after a dog. Somehow this woman did not understand that to name a dog after a man is a compliment to the man. For dogs are faithful, loyal, sensitive to errors on their part, hopeful that all will go well with those they love. They never stab a friend in the back and if ever I have known anyone to bite the hand that fed him, it was a human. And among those humans are some highly placed. For instance, I would not vote for a certain Senator, not because he and I disagree, but because secretly we do agree. He says it the other way in public because he has no courage. Dogs are not like that.

My old dog, Brownie, who died of a cancer, fought to the last painful moment not to disgrace herself in the house. Brownie was a philosopher and spent hours ruminating upon the foibles of the human race. She always ended her deep thinking with a profound sigh and generally turned over, at the end of it, and went to sleep, as though to say that she had given men all the time she could and had come up with nothing.

Charles Wilson goes hunting and he therefore knows the best qualities of good dogs. There are, of course, bad dogs as there are bad humans; there are even stupid dogs, but I have encountered few of them among the many I know. Dogs are psychologists and know those who abuse them or hate them, particularly among humans.

It is remarkable to note how they take over when a dog-hating cop comes along to give tickets to those who have allowed their animals to run in the grass for a few minutes off the leash. One day, my dog friends will hold a convention and pass a resolution against that cop. Alas! They will fail in their efforts, for they have no votes. Among humans, even dogs have votes.

Joe and I discussed Charles Wilson this morning. The name was strange to him and he cocked his head to one side and then to the other and finally smiled. When I mentioned Walter Reuther, he gave a sharp yelp, as though to say that that fellow does not know one dog from the other. I tried to explain that I know nothing about this fellow Reuther's family life, but my guess would be there is a dog in it somewhere.

It is remarkable how low politicians will sink in a dull and lack-lustre campaign. They will even involve dogs in their meaningless controversies. All that Charles Wilson said was that a bird dog is a self-reliant animal and that he, Wilson, likes self-reliant people. Ralph Waldo Emerson made much a to-do about self-reliance which used to be regarded as a noble quality and a particularly American one. Since when has it become an insult in this country to praise a human as self-reliant?

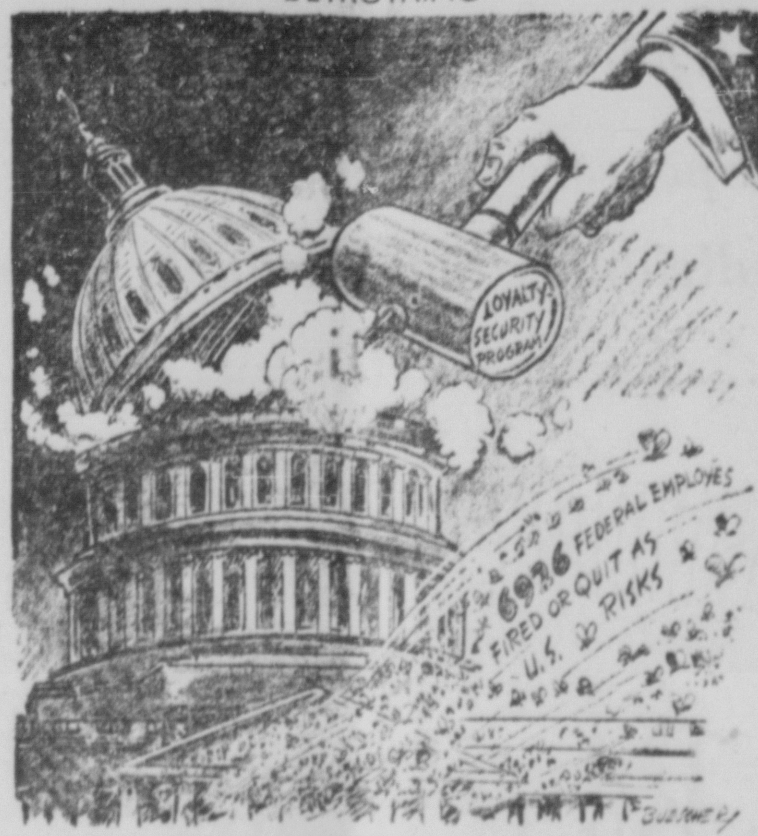

come more than just a figment of the imagination.

I am not sufficiently acquainted with the educational program itself to offer any opinion except a general one. A standardized curriculum will offer every child the same opportunity for preparedness upon entering high school. Obviously having all children on the same educational level would be a big time-saver for the high school and would keep emotional adjustments down to a minimum. Individuality of schools may be all right, but it should be confined to extra-curricula activities. All children should be equally advanced in their studies this is their inherent right!

I believe most everyone can see the advantages of a union as far as the transportation problem is concerned. The length of time required for some of the township children to get to and from school is disgraceful. Sending your child to the nearest school just makes good sense.

Finally, the Union would give the township people a broader interest in the entire school system. As it is now, our only interest is in the elementary schools. However our interest should be extended to the high school as our children spend six very important years there—important educationally, emotionally, and psychologically. Any aid we can give them at this stage would be an advantage.

And so I have listed some of the "pros." You will note that my

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

Cat Is Definitely Woman's Pet; Mousecatcher To Men

One of my readers up in Muskegon, Mich., wants to know why I never write anything about cats.

Don't I like cats? Don't I think they are much smarter than dogs, much cleaner, much nicer all around?

Well, I am not going to get myself into any controversy about cats and dogs when I have refused to get mixed up in arguments on whether the Republican or the Democratic party is the better one.

All I want to say here is that I can take cats or leave them, that I have no prejudice either for or against them and that when one of my friends recently named a kitten Erich (he said it looked like me) I felt duly honored although not deeply moved. Now when we go to visit that friend and his wife calls "Erich," I never know whether it's me or the cat she means.

I just read an article entitled "Are All Animal Lovers Such Fussy People?"

The author, aptly named Henrietta Hitchcock, is apparently a great cat lover and her sentiments about cats may answer my reader from Muskegon. Incidentally, I promise you that this will be the first and last time I'll ever write about cats—that is, feline ones.

The author says that she feels about cats just as she does about people. She likes some better than others.

Also, she says, she likes black and white cats best. They remind her of gentlemen in evening dress, black-coated with white faces and tummies and paws.

"Fortunately I get many letters from cat owners," she says, "who tell me of the charming ways of their pets and of the great consolation afforded by a loving little cat creature after some bereavement in the family."

Perhaps I have misjudged that cat which has been sitting in our backyard watching the birds and trying to catch them. Perhaps it wasn't she at all that caught some of these birds whose feathers I saw lying all over the ground.

But for some reason that self-same cat takes it on the lam every time she sees me (it IS a she) and, at least to me she looks as if she has a very guilty conscience.

Frankly I cannot say that I am over-fond of cats, which, I know makes absolutely no difference to all you cat-lovers. You'll go on loving yours anyway and I hope you'll give them all the affection of which you are capable. Any kind of affection for others than yourself is good.

By the way, Arthur Godfrey said the other morning that there are more than 1,700,000 cats in New York City alone. I don't know how and where he got his figures and how the statistician who gave him the information counted them.

But with that many cats in one city alone, it proves that there must be something lovely about cats as much as a great proportion of my fellow citizens loves cats as much as I love dogs.

And now a statement which I know will get me in wrong with a lot of my women readers.

A cat is definitely a woman's pet. I have asked at least 30 men and I found only one (and he was a henpeck) who preferred cats to dogs. All the others considered cats only as mouse catchers.

As I told you, I have nothing against cats—but, gosh darn it, there is that pussy under the tree again. Pardon me while I chase her away.

views are very general in content—I expect the union board to make them become specific. Still and all I do not expect the school boards to make any commitments before becoming a union board. Many of these objectives may take years to achieve; also changing conditions change plans. Furthermore by voting on the Union purely in the light of specific objectives we confuse the issue. Our schools and school system are good now, but let us not be satisfied for they can be better! And if it takes a joining of hands of the directors, teachers, and all interested people to accomplish this, the sooner we get at it the better!

Robert S. Allen Reports

Actual Federal Firing Numbers Over 21,000

Washington, October 16—That Civil Service Commission report, that 6,926 government employees have been fired or quit as security risks, is only one part of this stormy controversy. The actual number of such cases is more than 21,000.

What hasn't come out yet is that this startling total, which includes the 6,926 announced by the Civil Service Commission, is piled up in the Justice Department awaiting a policy directive by Attorney General Brownell.

Until he issues it, the recently-created Internal Security Division is stymied on what to do about prosecutions.

That is due largely to lack of strong evidence on which to take legal action. Most of the thousands of cases pending in the Security Division are based on unverified statements and allegations. Only a small percentage is backed by action able proof.

That's the serious complaint made to Brownell.

Assistant Attorney General William F. Tomkins, head of the new agency, is beginning to suspect it is being used as a "dumping ground" by government security officials. They are unloading bundles of cases on him for the obvious purpose of getting them off their hands and, thus, avoiding a possible charge of being "soft" or worse.

Only occasionally do these cases consist of anything more substantial than "raw" and unchecked information.

Brownell is fully aware of the difficult problem facing his Department. He has been working on a policy directive for several weeks and expects to complete it shortly. He has discussed the matter with President Eisenhower.

One reason for the Attorney General's concern is backstage pressure for a report from two Senate committees.

The Internal Security Subcommittee, headed by Senator William Jenner (R., Ind.) is insistently demanding to know what the Justice Department is doing about prosecuting these cases. On the other hand, Senator Olin Johnston, S.C., ranking Democrat on the Civil Service Committee, is angrily bombarding Brownell with charges of "playing politics" on this issue.

The increasing logjam in the Security Division has caused Brownell to seek permission to increase its staff by using funds from other Justice agencies. He explained the urgent need for this in a memorandum to the Senate Appropriations Committee, as follows:

"A serious backlog in the work load of the Internal Security Division has developed in the review of cases of government employees who have been the subject of loyalty or security procedures, and who may have made false statements or otherwise violated criminal statutes. It is requested that authority be granted to use funds to pay for additional attorneys to be assigned to work on these loyalty and security cases."

Benson Victory—The Army has stopped buying butter in Europe. The Quartermaster Corps has issued an unpublished order halting all such purchases.

The ban chiefly affects Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden. This action is a victory for Agriculture Secretary Benson. He and Secretary of State Dulles differed sharply over the foreign butter issue. Dulles contended the Army's large purchases for troops in Europe were an important economic and political factor there. Benson argued the U.S. has a huge surplus of butter and it should be used by the military.

Defense Secretary Wilson sided with Benson, after consulting the White House.

Note: West Germany has become one of the major exporting countries to Red China. German sales have more than doubled in the past 12 months. Bonn officials are making no bones about seeking this Communist trade. Two of them openly advocated it at a recent convention of 800 businessmen in Hamburg. The officials are Hans-Cristoph Seebohm, Minister of Transport in the Adenauer cabinet, and Wilhelm Kaisen, top Bremen authority.

A special committee appointed by the Arkansas general assembly to settle the controversy over how the state's name should be pronounced issued its decision in 1881. It's "Arkansaw."

The cravat, or necktie, is from the French "cravate," a corruption of "Croat." This came from the name given by the French in the time of Louis XIV to the scarves worn by Croatian soldiers.

Penalty Scales Increase

—by H. G. Heller

What is termed "a decided increase" in deer killings throughout the State in recent weeks—apparently including the Pocono Mountains region—has been noted as duly reported by law enforcement officers of the Pennsylvania Game Commission to commission headquarters.

The practice of "jack-lighting" deer, or the more bold daylight killings which have surged upwards in the past few weeks are done apparently with the idea that a fine and a few dollars cost is the only risk to be run by the violators.

Violators are apparently only aware of half the story. There's more than a fine and costs—in lieu of which a jail sentence is imposed.

The 1953 legislature passed an amendment to the penalty phase of the ban on killing deer out of season which is more severe than a mere fine and costs.

It applies not only to killing deer, but bear, out of season. The amended law provides:

It shall be mandatory that anyone hunting, killing, wounding, transporting, concealing or having in possession a deer taken in closed season shall lose his hunting and trapping privileges for THREE YEARS.

It shall also be mandatory under the amended law that anyone found guilty of hunting, killing or attempting to kill, possess, etc., a bear in closed season shall lose his hunting and trapping privileges for FIVE YEARS.

The cash penalties remain at $100 for each deer and $200 for each bear illegally killed or possessed, or one day in jail for every dollar of fine and costs imposed.

Obviously, it is worth exercising a bit more caution and consideration for those tempted to hunt, kill or possess deer or bear in closed season.

Consequences under the 1953 amendment should provide good reason for restraint and leave these prize animals for the sporting fans in season.

The important point, however, is:

By staying "within the law" many outdoorsmen will retain their hunting and trapping rights, the loss of which usually hurts more than the cash penalties assessed for such out-of-season killings.

—by Walter Winchell

long enough—he may develop talent."

Betty Hutton might be comforted by the reminder that numerous shows have survived critical disapproval. And many stars... Lily Langtry represented the most remarkable illustration. She appeared in London in a play titled: "Between Nightfall and the Night." Lily was hissed off the stage. Audience protests eventually became riotous. Police were compelled to escort her back to her hotel. Our Heroine, nevertheless, was undaunted. She had faith in the drama. Lily brought the same play to America and scored a thunderous hit.

The panoramic glide of stars is relentless and beautiful. A similar radiant power is applicable to stars of the greenscape realm. Disappointment, despair, social or personal obstacles—nothing stops the luminous flash of a star... When Bert Williams, the famed Negro performer, joined the "Follies" some members of the company objected because a Negro received an important role. Consequently, Williams' part was reduced to a single song. On opening night his one song stopped the show—and how. He did 20 encores. As a result, his original part was restored.

Every show is a hopeful experiment, an incredible gamble. Much of the theatre's spirit of adventure and suspenseful excitement is derived from the tremendous risks involved. Losers always outnumber winners. But there is never a scarcity of those tempting Lady Luck. Backers frequently risk mints. Actors and actresses, however, often play for the highest stakes. They gamble their careers... Last season, a lovely star surrendered a $100,000 film contract and accepted the challenge of Broadway. Fortunately, Deborah Kerr hit the jackpot in "Tea and Sympathy."

Thirteen minority parties nominated candidates for President of the United States in 1952.

Women's Groups To Sponsor Monday's Visit Of Bloodmobile

Clubs Need Assistance Of 'Walk-Ins'

THE FIRST "Woman's Donor Day" will be held in Monroe County next Monday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., when the Red Cross bloodmobile stops at the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church.

Although women have spearheaded the volunteer services involved in the blood donor visits here, and have given blood, this is the first visit sponsored by the women. The Stroudsburg Woman's Club with Mrs. James Coleman as chairman of the blood donor committee has enlisted the help of other women's clubs and organizations throughout the county.

The donors may be either men or women, and while "walk-ins" will be welcomed on Monday, the planning committee urges all persons who can do so to make definite appointments by calling the Red Cross headquarters this morning.

For blood donor chairmen in other clubs who have not yet turned in their pledge cards, Mrs. Parke Kunkle has volunteered to collect them and turn them into Red Cross headquarters.

Girls of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College have pledged blood in the campaign sponsored by the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity of former Boy Scouts. The college group represents the largest number of pledges turned in so far, with about half of the pledges signed by girls at the college.

There is a quota of 125 pints set for each visit.

Six Bangor Youths Admit Distribution Of Papers

BANGOR Bangor school district authorities last night studied disciplinary action against six Bangor high school youths who admitted distribution of pamphlets this week containing derogatory statements about the school board, administrators and teachers.

Some of the attack was directed at the proposed joint school district in the paper headed "Scandal In Bangor" and signed "Common Sense."

Called before school authorities after eye witnesses reported having seen the youths put the papers into distribution at Bangor.

Admitting they had distributed the pamphlets, the youth also admitted they could not prove the major portion of the charges contained in the paper, school officials said.

Distribution was made Monday and school authorities began their hearings with the youths Thursday and continued yesterday.

The attack included a charge there was a lack of proper school spirit in the high school, a lack of community spirit, a charge that teachers were not cooperative and "immature."

The pamphlet attacked the school administrators and school board with a charge they had hired one teacher they said did not have a desirable record in society.

School authorities said that during the conference, in addition to admitting they have no actual proof of all of the charges, also said they made up the paper and distributed them "to stir up the parents and the community to achieve a better school spirit."

They further admitted that all but one of the 32 teachers were doing a good job, and in that one instance there was a lack of cooperation.

Company G Alerted For Disaster Duty

OFFICERS OF Company G, 109th Infantry with headquarters at East Stroudsburg Army were contacted at 4:20 p.m. yesterday by Regimental Headquarters with a preliminary alert to provide non-commissioned officers, or warrant officers for 24-hour duty at the Army.

The company officers were advised to refresh themselves with methods of operation for a full alert—a complete time-table for this plan being on file in the Army.

The 24-hour manning problem at the Army telephone was immediately established.

Arrangements were made to get the table of manpower ready for instant use. A large truck was directed to pick up the men and bring them to the Army where they would go into uniform and prepare any other necessary gear for disaster service, when the alert developed.

Under the table of procedure, once the alert was issued and the men assembled and equipped, they would move where directed and extend every type of relief possible.

No Accidents Reported To State Police

DESPITE FALLING trees and slippery highways there were no accidents reported by State police in Monroe County last night.

Police in most areas said that traffic was comparatively light for the beginning of a weekend.

In both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg boroughs, much of the traffic passed through without the restriction of automatic stop light controls.

East Stroudsburg's traffic light system at the corner of Washington and Courtland St. was put back in operation early last night; stayed in working order the remainder of the night.

Stroudsburg's traffic lights, however, were out of order all night.

Civil Defense Organization Gets First Real Workout

utes later, stars were visible high in the sky behind the plummeting formlessness of the black clouds.

In the Civil Defense office, an engineer attempted to contact operators in the Scranton area without luck. Stroudsburg firemen, who had been waiting "on alert" at the borough fire hall all night began stopping in to see if there was any news.

Finally, at 10:25 Eastern Area CD Director Jack Anderson, after a walk around the outside of the building, announced that he thought the worst was past and that Hazel had by-passed Monroe County to hit farther north.

Moth Anderson and Crown agreed that the hurricane prediction had—luckily for Monroe—been in error. They decided to call the zone chairman in each area and tell them to drop the alert to their men.

At 10:45, Crown began placing phone calls to the zone leaders. Hurricane Hazel had failed to hit Monroe County full force. Most of the damage caused in the area had been done by fringe winds from the hurricane's violent central force.

Lois Cramer Is Bride At St. Luke's

Miss Lois Cramer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Cramer of 83 Second St., became the bride of Mr. and Mrs. John Romansky of 25 North Second Street on Saturday morning at 11 a.m. at St. Luke's Roman Catholic Church, Stroudsburg.

Rev. Francis Barrett performed the ceremony. Grace Butz was organist and Mrs. Alberta Yutz was soloist. She sang "Ave Maria" and "On This Day." The altar vases were filled with white flowers.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with a draped neckline and a hooped skirt, with a wide ruffle at the bottom which ended in a chapel length train. She had a tulle of seed pearls to hold her finger-tip veil, and carried a bouquet of white roses and pompons.

Miss Eleanor Romansky, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a dress of antique silk and net in blue with a big picture hat and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss

Lois Baechtold, who wore a similar dress of shrimp color; Miss Gloria Romansky, who was in blue; and Miss Marlene Allegar who wore aqua. They all had matching picture hats and carried colonial bouquets of pink roses.

Richard Romansky was best man for his brother, and the ushers included John Romansky, Stanley Romansky and Jesse Kulp Jr.

The bride's mother wore a light blue tulle dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress in a darker shade of blue with a mauve hat and a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception for about 300 guests was held at the American Legion Home, Charles Mussina and his orchestra played for the dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Romansky took a wedding trip to New York City. For traveling, the bride wore a pale blue suit with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

They are now making their home at 29 North Tenth St., Stroudsburg. The bridegroom, a graduate of Pocono Township High School, served in the U. S. Marine Corps and is now employed at Kulp's Foundry.

Progressive Women Launch Year With Fashion Show

Saylorsburg. The auditorium of Chestnut Hill School was decorated with colored leaves on Wednesday night at the meeting of the Progressive Woman's Club of Saylorsburg. The autumn foliage formed the setting for the Fall Style Show presented by the A. B. Wyckoff Store of Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Madelyn Maloney was commentator and members of the club and their children modeled, showing clothing for all ages and in sports, daytime and informal wear.

Mrs. Elmer Veety, president, greeted the members and guests. Mrs. Lizzie Fetherman offered prayer. Mrs. Frank Schick acted as recording secretary during the absence of Mrs. George Metzgar Jr.

Mrs. Wesley Shafer announced that the Woman's Club of Stroudsburg was sponsoring a Blood Donor Day Monday, October 18 in the Presbyterian Church in Stroudsburg, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Any of the club women from Progressive Club who could donate, were asked to do so.

Mrs. LeVerne McNett announced the first rehearsal on Wednesday night, October 20 of the chorus the club is sponsoring. Rehearsal will be held at the Brodheadville Sunday School from 7:30 until 9 p.m., under the direction of Wallace Hornbrook, accompanist for the choral group for Fred Waring. Mrs. Hornbrook has been with Waring Enterprises for five years, and is experienced along these lines.

Mrs. Veety asked for a membership drive, using 200 as a number of new members for a goal. "Ask your neighbor," as a good policy, she said.

The Progressive Club is to be hostess for the county meeting, which will be held Tuesday, October 19, at the Greenview Guest Farm. The afternoon session starts at 2:30 with a Welfare Panel. At 6 the dinner meeting will start with several state officers taking part. All members were urged to make reservations.

School Union To Be Theme Of PTA Mon.

The matter of the proposed union of three school districts: Stroud Township, Delaware Water Gap, and Stroudsburg, will be discussed at an open meeting arranged by the Stroudsburg Parent Teachers Association to be held on Monday night at Stroudsburg High School Auditorium at 8 p.m.

The meeting is open to everyone, and special invitations have been issued to members of the Stroud Township and Delaware Water Gap PTA's.

Earl Groner, superintendent of the Stroudsburg schools, has arranged the program which will be presented by a panel. In addition to Groner, the panel will include A. W. Munson, high school principal; Samuel O. Wells III, assistant principal; Roger Dunning, elementary school principal; and Herbert Crane of the Stroudsburg school board.

After the panel discussion there will be general discussion of the problems and plans involved in the proposed union which will be voted upon at the November 2 election.

An executive board meeting of Stroudsburg PTA officers has been called for 7:15 by the president, Mrs. Roger Stinson.

Following the meeting, there will be a social hour with refreshments in the school gymnasium. Mrs. Russell Harmon, hospitality chairman, announces that Mrs. Russell Feller is chairman of the committee in charge of refreshments. Others are: Mrs. Floyd Fetherman, Mrs. Robert Forney, Mrs. William Heitler, Mrs. William Dodson, Mrs. Spencer Cramer, Mrs. Gerald Possinger, Mrs. Phillip Sabatino, Mrs. Howard Alles, Mrs. Durrell Mader, Mrs. Samuel Driebe, Mrs. Merlin Rutt and Mrs. John Zugel.

Future Nurse Club Is Project Of Med. Aux.

The first Future Nurse Club in Monroe County was launched during the first National Nurse Week, and the Women's Auxiliary to the Monroe County Medical Society hopes that it will be the first of several in county high schools.

Mrs. Horace Butler, chairman of the auxiliary's nurse recruitment program, did the preliminary work of organizing the club in Stroudsburg High School. Mrs. Martha Kintz, school nurse, will serve as club advisor.

Patricia Dodson is president of the Future Nurse Club; Suzanne Sommers is vice president and program chairman; Patricia Cliffer is secretary; Jackie Torzillo, corresponding secretary, and Lee Overgard health room monitor.

The purpose of the club is to introduce the members to standards of community health; to present what is required in nursing and what it offers; to help them decide on whether they would like a career in professional or practical nursing.

Their programs and projects are usually devoted to the field of community health, and field trips form part of their program. Mrs. Butler has contacted faculty members ready to sponsor and serve as advisors to similar club in other high schools if there is enough interest shown by the girls.

with Mrs. Veety, Mrs. Walter May, Mrs. Marvin Krome or Mrs. Lizzie Fetherman.

The following committee is in charge: Mrs. Grant Knowles, chairman; Mrs. Anna Serfass, Mrs. Marvin Krome, Mrs. Lizzie Fetherman, Mrs. Lloyd Altomose, Miss Ella Mills, Mrs. Lydia Horwerter, Mrs. Frank Varney, Mrs. Clement Heist and Mrs. Albert Nelson.

Mrs. Veety announced an executive board meeting Monday night, October 18, at 7:30, at her home. Each model was given a gift from the Wyckoff Store, as well as 11 gift certificates.

Mrs. Grant Knowles, program chairman, opened with a poem on "Fashions," and introduced Mrs. Maloney.

Mrs. Angelo Vianello and Mrs. Lloyd Mackos were chairman of the fashion show. Each table had a fall setting of leaves and greens for the refreshments.

Hostesses were Mrs. John Mills, Mrs. Nevin Dorschner, Mrs. John Martucci, Mrs. Graegen Mitchell, Mrs. Frank Varney, Mrs. Weston Fenner Jr., Miss Maxine Everett, Mrs. Wesley Shafer, Mrs. Richard Diehl, Mrs. Myrtle Rodenbach, Mrs. Roy Woodling, Mrs. Theodore Thompson, Mrs. James Gould, Mrs. Howard Gregory, Mrs. Mark Kretzing, Mrs. Henry Hoffman, Mrs. Julian Kresge, Mrs. Kenneth Achey.

The publicity committee includes Mrs. Janet Richards and Mrs. Joan Place; the ticket committee, Mrs. Helen Miller, Mrs. Bertha Rosenberger, and Mrs. Dolores DePue.

Further details of the card party will be announced at the regular PTA meeting to be held on Monday night at the school.

Emma Pleyer Is Bride Of R. Mansfield

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Pleyer of Cherry Valley announce the marriage of their daughter, Emma to Robert Mansfield, also of Cherry Valley.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. Clyde Levergood at the Cherry Valley Methodist Church on Saturday, October 9, at 3:00 p.m.

The bride was attended by Miss Joan Pleyer, sister of the bride. The best man was James Meyers of Stroudsburg.

They will make their home at 519 Sarah St. in their newly furnished apartment.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

The beginning of any disaster is more exciting than terrifying and yesterday afternoon was no exception. Everybody had sort of gay and drunken gait—now leaning back into the wind and then, as the guest died away, lurching upright again as the support was withdrawn.

In the bank, the tellers without their electric adding machines found themselves adding long, long columns of figures and then cross checking. Good thing we don't have to plug our heads in to have them work, or we would be in the soup.

And speaking of soup, the folks who postponed their food shopping until last night were issued candles with their carts and no doubt ended up with a variety of food they never expected.

A cold dinner by candlelight was pleasant for a change and so was the fact that nobody left early to watch television. At the office, typing by candlelight was rather a novelty, too, except you found yourself wishing you'd taken notes with a heavier pencil.

The express train sound of the wind, things going bump against the side of the house, the frantic tossing of the branches, all were exciting. It's only when you begin taking stock of the damage when you want light and water and a hot meal that the excitement is replaced by irritation and dismay.

St. Matthew's Parents Discuss Three Home 'R's'

The "Three R's of Living" formed the theme of the meeting of St. Matthew's Parents Association on Monday night in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Zigmund Vichnicki, program chairman for the month, presented the program in which the panel discussed the place of "Respect, Responsibility and Recreation" in home living. Members of the panel were: Rev. Francis Barrett, Dr. Francis McGarry, Edward Driebe and William Lopez. Open discussion followed the presentation of the subjects.

Mrs. James Cummings presided at the business meeting when plans were made for an open house and a book fair for St. Matthew's School on Sunday, November 7 from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. The homeroom mothers will assist the nuns in their respective rooms.

Reports on ways and means, and school insurance were presented by Stewart Swartley; of the hot lunch project by Mrs. Milazzo; of the program by Mrs. Arthur Henning and on Mission Award attendance by William Lopez.

Refreshments were served by the first grade mothers with Mrs. Charles Resh as chairman of the hospitality committee.

Billie Altomose Celebrates Her Fifth Birthday

Little Billie Altomose celebrated her fifth birthday this week with a Halloween party given by her parents. Mr. and Mrs. William Altomose. The children came in costume and enjoyed games and refreshments.

The table was set with a three-tier birthday cake in the center of a lazy-susan decorated in yellow and blue. Individual cup cakes for each guest was also decorated in yellow and blue with a candle. Guests included John Wilton Appel, Chris and Timmie McCord, Darlene Gehris, Will Ann Bosser, Joan Fleming and Dians Coogan.

Stroud Community Club Has First Official Meeting

The first official meeting of the new Stroud Community Club was held on Thursday night at Wyckoff Recreation rooms when Mrs. Foster Minnich, president of the Monroe County Federation of Woman's Clubs, welcomed the new club into the federation.

Nine new members, added to the list of charter members, launched the new club with enthusiasm. In an opening get acquainted session, each person present introduced herself and told briefly of her activities and interests.

Miss Barbara Wilson, of Canadensis, a free lance designer, was the guest speaker. Educated in New York City, Miss Wilson was graduated from Parsons School of Design. During her third year there, she had a scholarship which took her to Mexico to study.

At the present time she specializes in textiles and wall paper designing. She showed examples of her designs, which had been sold, and how she worked. She sketched in her preliminary idea and then followed it through to the finished product.

Miss Nancy Morrison, a student at East Stroudsburg High School, was guest soloist. She sang "A Little Song of Life"; and "Getting To Know You." Miss Jane Marshall was her accompanist.

New members welcomed, included Mrs. William Rinker, Mrs. George Mensch, Mrs. Frank Taltaz, Mrs. Oliver Wilson, Mrs. Edward K. Driebe, Mrs. Budd Van Horn, Mrs. William J. Howard, Mrs. Marvin Burrus, Mrs. William A. Divine and Mrs. Henry Acker.

Call it a burp, or glorify it by calling it a "hubble," the fact remains that the tiny gulp of air that escapes from Cradle-Agers after they've been fed, is one of the most exasperating things about parenthood. It's a mighty cozy feeling to nestle a tiny head over your shoulder and wait for the sound to come . . . but what mother hasn't known the terrible tragedy of being all dressed up in her best bib and tucker and having curds of sour milk dribbled all down her back? It's just one of the smaller operations that win eventual stars for her crown-providing, of course, she takes it gracefully without tears.

Well, our Infants department tells us that the day of the bursting bubble is over . . . and so is the need for mother to protect her shoulder with an unglamorous diaper or turkish towel. There is now on the market a "Burping Bib"—not for baby's use, but for proud Mom and Pop.

These bibs are cute as the dickens. They are soft and "turkish" on the front, but are backed with a rubberized coating that guarantees protection. They are gracefully scalloped, and bound in either pink or green, and are also embroidered with rosebuds. When baby outgrows the need of burping, he or she will probably begin wearing personally this ample hand-me-down apron from the folks. The price is $1.50—and bibs, like these would be adorable gifts for the parents of new arrivals. After all, did you ever see a baby whose favorite thing wasn't a "Forever Blowing Bubbles" or a real honest-to-goodness parent who didn't have a ready shoulder for the blowing?

I'm not at all sure why they call her "Hurricane Hazel" when it should be "Kaisin' Cain Hazel" but anyway her advance guard has already arrived, and silver streaks of rain are slanting down toward Main Street as I type this column. This is the sort of day we should sell umbrellas by the score; a day when everyone should think of Weatherbee raincoats and boots. In our fashion show at Brodheadville the other evening, we showed some lovely rain attire for women of all ages and sizes—and I particularly remember the oiled skin Teen Age coat and sou'wester in a delicate shade of shrimp. Was a time when oiled skin came only in vivid yellow. It was a fad, a few decades ago, to paint them up with flappers, clever sayings, and the names of couples steady-dating. We prefer the new "shrimp" in which the girls go fishing for compliments on rainy days . . . Oh, yes, and do you remember our mention of the old Julius Caesar quip, when the movie was showing here? Now, one of our readers asks, "Do you really want the answer to 'why did Julius Caesar?' It was because 'Twelfth Night' was coming, and he didn't want her to Romeo the 'Handel'." Well, I'm afraid I asked for it! . . . My Wyckoff made a great many people happy when he appeared on Thursday morning's radio program, and invited Dorothy Dunn, Gracie Grace, and Arthur Widmer to fly with son Holt and himself to Santa Fe, next Friday. It will give them all an opportunity to renew acquaintance with the Indian family that once sold jewels and art work in our store. And what do you bet we won't get a new shipment of beautiful turquoise and silver jewelry in time for Christmas giving!

RILEY

Sports Editor

NOW THAT the weekend is upon us once again it's time to clear up all the loose ends on the local athletic front and report bits of gossip and news that have been hanging fire for most of the present week. Stroudsburg fans will be glad to know that Karl Weingartner, former three-letter athlete at the W. Main St. school, is doing well at Forks Union Military Academy, both scholastically and athletically.

Karl is the number one quarterback for the Virginia school and scored one touchdown in a 34-14 decision over the University of Richmond freshmen last Saturday. Karl also set up the second touchdown by intercepting a pass and running it back 75 yards. He played three quarters on defense and half of the contest on offense. Weingartner also made the dean's list for the first marking period. Forks Union is located 10 miles from Richmond.

The North Atlantic League, a new defunct Class "D" baseball circuit, will have another graduate in spring training with a major league club next March. Norm Larker, former first sacker with Hazleton, has been promoted to the Brooklyn Dodgers. Larker played for Montreal, International League, during the campaign just completed. Jonathan Albright, former Polk High baseball and basketball star, is an outstanding member of the Haverford College cross country team. Albright is a junior at the present time, and a veteran member of the squad.

Should teachers be allowed to bet on area high school football games? Monroe County was well represented at the basketball rules discussion held at Palmerton High School on Monday night. Two Lehighite High graders were injured in last Saturday night's grid tussle with East Stroudsburg. It has already been reported that Lamar Semmel suffered a broken leg, but we failed to mention at an earlier date that Tom Shupp came up with a broken nose. Tom will probably see action against Whitehall today.

Mrs. Mildred Maehrer, wife of Coach Ozzie Maehrer, Jim Thorpe, died recently. Maehrer was the coach of the Mauch Chunk basketball team that defeated Barreitt in the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association playoffs last March. The recent death of his wife was a tragic blow to Maehrer, a great guy and a fine coach. Ozzie is a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Maehrer is now coach of the combined Jim Thorpe High School.

Is the American League situation involving the shift of the A's as jumbled a mess as it appears, or is it just a means of keeping the deal in front of the public and improving ticket sales and interest in the Kansas City area? Joe Tichy, former football star at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, is now an instructor at the New Jersey reformatory at Annapolis. Joe graduated from the local college last May.

Bill Sommers, East Stroudsburg High quarterback who suffered a chipped left ankle in the recent football game with Bangor, is now working out with the Cavaliers again. But Coach Jack Kist said he wouldn't be in uniform for today's tussle with Collingdale. Anyone wishing to see the East Stroudsburg-Collingdale contest today is advised to leave early. The game starts at 8 a. m. and the kickoff is carded for 2 p. m. It's not a certainty that East Stroudsburg and Collingdale will play next season.

The color display at last Saturday's ESSTC-Shippensburg football struggle was second to none shown on the Normal Hill field in the past eight years. There was plenty of cheering and excitement in the grandstand and a lot of good football on the field. The Warriors play West Chester next Friday night, at West Chester. The ESSTC band put on a smart halftime display last Saturday, not to mention its fine pregame march on the field.

There is hope in the Monroe County League that more than three schools will take part in the soccer campaign next season. Despite the many recent magazine articles to the contrary, it is this column's opinion that Ted Williams, brilliant Red Sox star of many years, means it when he says he's finished as an active player. That long, late season slump convinced Ted, I believe. Plans are underway to re-seed the Memorial Stadium playing field following the Thanksgiving Day football struggle between Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High Schools. West Chester is the toughest foe the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College soccer team will face this season.

Eastburg High Invades Collingdale Territory Today

Cavaliers Seek Victory Number Four

EAST Stroudsburg High School will go in search of its fifth football victory of the current campaign today when the Cavaliers oppose Collingdale High, at Collingdale.

The Cavaliers, making their longest trip in the history of football at the N. Courtland St. school, departed from the school building at 8 a. m. The kickoff is slated for 2 p. m.

Coach Jack Kist announced last night that he would stick with his usual lineup, although he was concerned about the condition of both Mike Palmisano and Nick Patella, first string tackles.

Palmisano is hobbling with a charley horse and Patella is hampered by an injured leg. Kist is hopeful that both will be ready to take their usual positions in the starting lineup today.

If Palmisano is unable to play today he will be replaced by Pete Lorenzetti, while Dave Brands will take over if Patella is unable to answer the starting whistle. If Palmisano is unable to play the Cavaliers will be without the services of their ace place kicker, who takes care of extra point conversions and kickoff duties.

Otherwise the starting array of talent will feature Jim Kimler and John Bach at the ends; Roger Strouse and Bill Dimmick, guards, and Bob "Booster" Miller, center. Marvin is also expected to see plenty of action at end, while John Shaffer is listed for duty in the middle of the line.

East Stroudsburg will feature a starting backfield of Dick Gray, quarterback; of "Red" Kupiszewski, left halfback; Gene Plaza, right half, and either Doug Dailey or Ronnie Newhaker, fullback. Frank Lupin and Ralph Carter are also expected to see plenty of backfield duty.

The Cavaliers own victories over Hellertown, Slatington, Pen Argyl and Lehighite. The lone defeat on the agenda was inflicted by Bangor, 33-19.

Collingdale is regarded as one of the toughest foes to be met by the Cavaliers this season. It has won three and lost one game to date. The lone loss was a 14-13 affair at the hands of Ridley Park.

Today's host club will feature one of the top backs in the east in the person of Jimmy Cox, a versatile ball carrier and passer.

Collingdale opened the present campaign with a victory over Morrisville, a team that East Stroudsburg defeated the past two years. Eastburg and Morrisville aren't scheduled to clash this season.

East Stroudsburg plays a powerful Wilson Borough club at Wilson next Saturday.

Mulligan May Join A's

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Eddie Mulligan, president of the Sacramento Baseball Club of the Pacific Coast League, said yesterday he would accept the job of general manager of the Philadelphia Athletics if it was offered to him.

"Mr. Roy Mack and I have been discussing the matter, and he called me this morning, but there is nothing official yet," Mulligan said. "I'm waiting momentarily to hear from them (the Philadelphia supporters) as soon as they work out their financial problems."

Mulligan, who is 60 but looks 50, played baseball 26 years, 17 in the Pacific Coast League, as a third baseman.

He owned the Salt Lake City club in the Pioneer League for about eight years. He said it in 1949 and bought into the Sacramento club in 1951.

Harlow, a summer resident of LaAnna, Pa., is currently recovering from a fractured arm. The injury occurred in his famous Pocono Mountains garden, which attracts visitors from all sections of the east.

Higgins was a football star for Penn State and came back to the school as assistant coach in 1928, succeeded Bezdek as head coach, and held the position for 19 years. He retired in 1951.

Red Defeats Blue In Field Hockey

RED RALLIED for three goals in the second quarter this morning to earn a 3-2 decision over the Blue in an intra-squad field hockey match at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

The match, held as part of the annual "Homecoming Day" ceremonies at the local school, featured varsity players divided into two teams.

Blue stick welders jumped off to a 2-0 lead by scoring twice in the first period, but the Red rolled up three goals in the second stanza to gain the favorable decision.

Nancy Almond and Carol Emery scored for the Red contingent in the opening period, while Joan Chamberlin, Marjorie Morrell and Carol Sue Underwood took care of the point production for the winning aggregation.

Both teams substituted freely as 39 girls saw action in the contest. Twenty players were in action for the Red squad and 19 for the Blue.

ESSTC returns to inter-collegiate competition next Friday, when the Warriors battle the University of Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia.

Colts Make Player Change

BALTIMORE, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts turned loose Sisto Averro, a guard, yesterday and took on Gene Pepper, who has been cut by the Washington Redskins, to replace him.

Averro has been in the National Football League since 1950, starting with the Cleveland Browns. He followed a shift of franchises from the New York Yanks to the Dallas Texans to Baltimore. He is a former Muhlenberg College star.

Pepper was the sixth draft choice of the Redskins after his graduation from the University of Missouri three years ago. He was fired a week before this season opened.

Other ESSTC players making the trip include Dick Ashner, Jim Connor, Jerry Rushin, Tom Benson, Dick Reichard, Terry Hawk, John Powers, Carl Schure, Gailyn Maddock and Dick Ervin. The party includes 22 players, manager Norman Snyder and DeNike. It left Normal Hill at 8:30 a. m.

Contest Postponed

Yesterday's Scheduled Football game between East Stroudsburg Junior High and Hazleton was postponed until Monday because of hurricane Hazel. The tussle, listed for 3:45 p. m. will be played at Memorial Stadium.

Philadelphia Syndicate Tries To Save Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16 (AP)—A group of 20 Philadelphia area businessmen — each pledging $150,000 — met in a midtown bank here yesterday in a last-minute effort to save the Philadelphia Athletics for this city.

A spokesman, attending the hastily called meeting, said each man came to the conference, check in hand, ready to put the money on the table to keep the Athletics franchise from moving to Kansas City.

The spokesman said actually the money needed to retain the franchise in Philadelphia was "oversubscribed."

He said the group would buy out Earle Mack and Connie Mack Sr. and retain Roy Mack in the new organization.

He said two "prominent Pennsylvania industrialists have promised to invest any additional money that may be necessary to carry through the reorganization of the ball club."

The spokesman also said "we have enough money to purchase four good ballplayers, hire a top-flight general manager and manager."

Although Jack Rensel, sales manager of Racquet Garage Corp., refused to disclose the names of those in the group, reporters on the scene were able to identify the following as they emerged from today's meeting:

Paul Harrison, president of radio station WIBG; Barney Fischer, oil and automobile industrialist of Lower Merion Twp., Pa.; Arthur Gallagher, Philadelphia trucking firm executive and formerly nationally known oarsman; William Anderson, heating and plumbing contractor; Arthur Rosenberg, food chain executive; Joseph Leimman, clothing executive; Leonard Strick, truck-tailor manufacturer; and Isadore Sley, parking lot company operator.

Rensel issued the following statement after the breakup of today's meeting:

"A group of Philadelphia businessmen is negotiating with Mr. Roy Mack and the Mack family and negotiations won't be made until after the weekend at which time it is hoped a meeting of the minds will be reached."

"Mr. Roy Mack's daughter is being married tomorrow and if a decision is reached before then, we shall notify the press."

"Needless to say, all of the people involved are responsible citizens of Philadelphia and are vitally interested in keeping the Athletics in Philadelphia. I am not at liberty in revealing the names of the parties involved."

Negotiations had been conducted with the entire Mack family—Roy, his brother, Earle, and their father, Connie Mack Sr.—and that all the Macks "were happy."

Earle Mack, vice president and general manager of the A's, said at his home later, that his attorney, Alfred Luongo, had alerted him to be ready on Sunday to pick up his father, Connie Sr., to drive down to an attorney's Philadelphia office.

Earle refused to elaborate on the statement and he declined to say whether he was aware of what went on at today's meeting of the Philadelphia syndicate.

It was learned from a reliable source that one of the big hitches in the situation was Roy Mack's insistence that he be given a five-year contract as an executive of one sort or another in the A's front office before he will agree to sell his stock.

Earlier, another spokesman came out of the meeting and told newsmen that there was enough money represented in the board room of the Tradesman's Land Title and Trust Co. for the meeting to buy the club. The spokesman added that the group was "oversubscribed" and might have to turn some money back.

That time element would take matters right down to the 11 a. m. EST, Monday deadline set by Will Harridge, American League president, for a final stand by Roy Mack, the A's executive vice president and key figure in the situation.

Big Football Games Order Of Day In United States, Canada

TORONTO, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Hamilton Tiger Cats put a five-game winning streak on the line today when they meet the league leading Montreal Alouettes in a Canadian Big Four football game at Montreal.

The Tiger Cats, only team to start their winning streak the last time they played Montreal, Texas Christian a week ago, and Oregon, rebounding winner over California after a shaky start, collide at Portland, Ore. The game is to be beamed across the country by ABC, starting at 4:15 p. m. (EST).

While this game and two others on the Pacific Coast lend an early but indefinite light to the possible Pasadena assignment Jan. 1, three important conference games in the Big Ten start deciding the other end of the Rose Bowl axis. Purdue, the giant-killer which felled Notre Dame, is at Ohio State, and Illinois, the preseason conference favorite which has failed to start rolling, invades Minnesota.

Wisconsin, Ohio State and Minnesota, are unbeaten and untied while Purdue has only a tie marking its record, a 13-13 standoff a week ago with Duke. Illinois has dropped three in a row.

The Wisconsin-Purdue tilt at Madison, Wis., matches the nation's second and fifth ranked teams and brings together two of the campaign's early backfield sensations. Alan (The Horse) Ameche provides most of the power for the No. 2 Badgers while Lenny Dawson's deadly passing arm has been the main means of locomotion for Purdue.

Ohio State is No. 4 in the latest standings while Minnesota is No. 11.

The game which before the season looked like the "natural" of the year — that between Notre Dame and Michigan State at South Bend — was dropped to secondary status when both teams suffered setbacks. Notre Dame bowed to Purdue, 27-14, two weeks ago while Ames, after an opening loss to South Carolina, plays Duke, the sixth-ranked team in the nation, at Durham, N.C., and undefeated Navy, buoyed by a victory over Stanford, tackles Pittsburgh at Pitt Stadium.

Pitt, off to a miserable start despite a wealth of material, is playing under the charge of Athletic Director Tom Hamilton, filling in for the ailing coach Red Dawson. Hamilton is a former Navy star and coach.

Oklahoma, the country's No. 1 team after inter-sectional victories over California, TCU and Texas, moves into conference competition with Kansas as the first order of business. The Sooners are expected to handle this job easily enough, by about three touchdowns.

Basilio Earns Easy Verdict Over Gronik

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 16 (AP)—Carmen Basilio, 151, in command all the way, battered a disillusioned and bewildered Allie Gronik, 151½, at will last night to win a unanimous 10-round decision in their welterweight fight which was televised nationally.

One of Gronik's eyes was nearly closed at the end of the fight, the other was on its way and both were black. Basilio bled slightly from the nose from the early rounds, but was unmarked by the wildly-flung punches of the Detroit boy. There were no knockdowns.

Gronik was credited with winning one round on one official's card and none on the other two scoring sheets.

From the start, Gronik covered up often from Basilio's merciless body punching. Gronik's best weapon was a right hand, thrown from all angles. Basilio's best weapon was his left hook and he scored repeatedly with it.

Throughout the fight, Basilio, the number one welterweight contender from Syracuse, appeared calm and confident, making Gronik do just about what he wanted.

A total of 3619 fans who paid $10.678 watched the action. The victory put Basilio in line to meet the winner of next Wednesday's Johnny Saxton-Kid Gavilan title fight in Philadelphia.

Braves Recall Toledo Star

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves yesterday took up the contract of George Crowe, the batting star of their American Association Toledo farm club.

In exchange for the left-handed first baseman's contract, the Braves assigned Outfielder Collins Chet Morgan to Toledo. Morgan played last season with Allentown, Pa., in the Eastern League.

Edward King Assigned Top Weight in Franklin Handicap

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 16 (AP)—Joseph Gavagnano's Errand King, winner of three stakes fixtures this year, has been assigned top weight of 130 pounds in today's renewal of the $25,000 added Benjamin Franklin Handicap at Garden State Park. Errand King has won the season's renewals of the Experimental Handicap at Jamaica, the Arlington Classic and the American Derby.

Robinson To Begin Comeback

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson begins training Monday for a comeback.

"I have the urge to fight again, but I won't make any final decision until I see how I make out in training," said Robinson at a press conference in his Harlem bar and grill.

"I feel good. I don't think I ever felt better. I would like to become the first retired champion ever to regain a title, and I hope to get a shot at middleweight champion 'Bobo' Olson if my training works out well."

"But if I can't regain the condition that I was once so proud of, then I'll give the idea up."

In answer to questions, he said: "I'll want quite a few tuneup fights before I take on Olson, if I can get him."

ESSTC Battles Mansfield In 'Homecoming' Day Football

Warriors Hit With Wave Of Injuries

EAST STROUDSBURG State Teachers College attempts to regain its winning habit in football today as the once defeated Warriors collide with Mansfield State Teachers on the Normal Hill gridiron.

The kickoff took place at 2 p. m. ESSTC saw a two-game winning streak end last Saturday in a savage struggle with Shippensburg, by the narrow margin of a 17-13 score. The win enabled Shippensburg to increase its winning habit to 20 straight games, over a three year period.

Coch Gene Martin announced last night that his forces are crippled with injuries, but that several of his front line performers may be ready to face Mansfield by game time.

Of course Don Toth, speedy back, lost to ESSTC for the balance of the season because of a fractured collarbone in the Shippensburg contest last Saturday.

Carmen Martucci, veteran tackle, was unable to practice this week because of a recurrence of a knee injury. Martin hadn't decided last night whether Martucci would play against Mansfield today or be held in readiness for West Chester next Friday night, at West Chester.

Low Judy hasn't practiced for two days because of a damaged blood vessel of the leg, while Charley German, reserve end, is slowly recovering from an injured ankle. Judy is expected to be in the starting lineup for ESSTC today.

The ESSTC backfield will feature Warren Hoeffner at quarterback; Dick Merring, former East Stroudsburg High standout, left half; Charley Shaw, right half, and Dennis Roth, fullback, Don Corman and Jim Oplingen, the latter a Northampton High grad, are also expected to see plenty of action today. Guido De Torrice is a doubtful performer due to a bad leg.

Today's football battle is the highlight of a "Homecoming Day" program at the local college.

The Warriors held a rough scrimmage session on Wednesday and the remainder drilled on pass offense and defense and timing of their own offensive plays.

Most Contests To Be Played Today

HARRISBURG, Oct. 16 (AP)—Nearly every high school football game scheduled for last night will be played today. The reason—Hurricane Hazel.

Torrential rains turned most fields into good facsimiles of water polo courses, while howling winds ruled out the possibilities of punts and passes.

Hurricane Hazel Blows Stroudsburg-Bangor Football Tilt Back 24 Hours At Giffels Field

HURRICANE HAZEL forced postponement of last night's long awaited football contest between Stroudsburg and Bangor High Schools, at Gordon Giffels Field.

Authorities of both schools agreed yesterday to hold the game tonight, after Hazel moved to other sections with her high winds and deluge of rain. The contest was officially postponed at 9 a.m.

The kickoff is scheduled to take place at 8 p.m.

Mahlon Serfass, faculty athletic manager at Stroudsburg High, checked the field this morning and announced that there would be a game tonight. He stated that the high winds blew down a tree or two and inflicted minor damage to the fence but that the lighting system appeared to have withstood the blow in top notch fashion.

Stroudsburg will risk its undefeated mark of three victories and one tie, while Bangor will feature a slate of three favorable decisions and one setback.

The Mountaineers have taken the measure of Lehighpton, Palmerton and Pen Argyl, while battling Emmaus to a 6-6 stalemate. Bangor has won over Palmerton, Cataqua and East Stroudsburg, before howling to Wilson Borough last weekend, 20-7.

Stroudsburg will be at full strength for the game, while Bangor will be minus one lineman and Duane Miller, ace back, will be used sparingly during the contest, according to announcements made this week by the Bangor coaching staff. Dick Marinelli is the lineman out of action, due to a neck injury.

The largest crowd of the season is expected to be present at Gordon Giffels Field. Advance sale of tickets will continue at DeVivo's Shoe Repair Shop all day.

The Bangor band is scheduled to put on a special show at halftime.

Yankees Begin Task Of Rebuilding

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—The New York Yankees began rebuilding last night by purchasing the contracts of four of their farm hands, including Negro catcher Elston Howard.

Howard, voted the most valuable player in the International League last year while at Toronto, is the first to be placed on the Yankee roster.

Howard was brought up from Kansas City, which owned his contract, along with two righthanded pitchers, Ed Cereghino and Tom Sturdivant. Also, third baseman Leo "Buddy" Carter was bought from Birmingham of the Eastern League, another Yankee affiliate.

To make room for these men, the Yankees sold outfielder Art Schult and pitcher Al Crotte to Kansas City.

Rest For Favorite

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15 (AP)—Scott Frost, who has raced faster than any two-year-old harness horse that ever lived, was on his way to the west coast this week and to a long rest before he embarks on a 1955 campaign that already finds him the winter book choice for next August's $100,000 Hambletonian.

Campanella Scheduled For Further Surgery On Hand

BROOKLYN, Oct. 16 (AP)—Roy Campanella, veteran Brooklyn Dodgers catcher, will have to undergo another operation on his left hand.

Penn State Choice Over West Virginia

STATE COLLEGE, Oct. 16 (AP)—Penn State is a slight favorite to win its seventh consecutive football game today when the Nittany Lions go against West Virginia—the last team to lick them.

A record Beaver Field crowd of more than 30,000 is expected for the game, rated the best in the northeast. Both teams are undefeated this year. State winning three games and West Virginia its first two starts.

Last year, also at State College, the West Virginians came up with a fourth quarter blocked punt and scored a 20-19 victory.

Each team enters the game without one regular. Joe Papetti, West Virginia end, aggravated an old knee injury in scrimmage and may be lost for the remainder of the season. State fullback Bill Straub, was hurt this week in a punt blocking drill and is out for a week or more.

Miami Rolls Over Mississippi State

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 16 (AP)—Miami's hard-running backs took charge in the second period last night to overpower Mississippi State 29-13 in a battle between two bruising ground attacks.

The most exciting moment came in the last period when Gordon Malloy, the senior halfback, had the steady influence in Miami's young backfield, raced 70 yards for a touchdown with a Mississippi State punt.

Navy Rates Edge Over Pitt Today

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 16 (AP)—Tom Hamilton, yelling himself hoarse for a Pitt football victory, gets his chance today against his Alma Mater Navy and former protegee Eddie Erdelatz.

Hamilton, Pitt's athletic director is handling the Panthers' football fortunes for ailing head coach Lowell "Red" Dawson who is hospitalized.

Dawson entered Presbyterian Hospital Tuesday for what doctors called "an irregularity of the heart."

"I didn't expect to be in this position but I'm enjoying it a great deal," commented Hamilton on the eve of the first meeting between the teams in 20 years.

"It will be a great game. Eddie Erdelatz is a fine coach and a fine gentleman. Maybe there'll be an upset. I feel our boys haven't shown their stuff yet and when they do somebody better watch out."

Erdelatz, who served under Hamilton at Navy in 1946-47, reports his scouts tell him "Pitt has the material and if they can get together they'll win some football games. We'll be outwaged on the line 20 pounds to the man and a muddy field might hinder our operations."

The forecast calls for cloudy, windy and cool weather with the high of 50-57.

The Panthers seek their first victory. Navy is undefeated in three starts and rules a 13 1/2 point favorite.

Rejected Tops In Hawthorne

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (AP)—King Ranch's four-year-old Rejected is the top-weighted favorite against seven rivals in today's $100,000 added Hawthorne Gold Cup at Hawthorne Race Course.

The mile and one-quarter event which will gross $101,150, with a $62,300 net to the winner if all eight start closes Hawthorne's season.

Rejected, to be ridden by imported Eric Guerin, will carry 125 pounds and is the 8-5 choice.

His chief challenge is expected from Harry N. Eads' Sir Mango.

Vestment Sets World Record

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Hurricane Hazel, sweeping toward the Metropolitan New York area, helped Starmount Stable's Vestment set a world record in a six furlong dash down the Widener straight course at Belmont Park yesterday.

The two-year-old daughter of Pavot-Beaufield was timed in 1:07 4/5 in defeating a band of maiden fillies. She sliced two fifths of a second off the record set a year ago today at Old Morris Park by Artful under 130 pounds.

Vestment, ridden by Stanley Small, was aided by a brisk tail wind as she won by three lengths from Lazy F Ranch's Itinerary, who led by a length and a half over Sanford Stud Farms' Mohawk Valley.

Second choice with the poor crowd of 12,457, Vestment returned mutuals of $13.50, $7.20 and $5.80. Itinerary paid $33.20 and $17.60 and Mohawk Valley, coupled as an entry with Miss Nell was $10.30 to show.

Rivals Clash At Belmont

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—High Gun and Fisherman, two leading contenders for the three-year-old championship who have been traveling different paths for four months, tangle again today in the $75,000-added Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont Park.

In their last meeting June 12, High Gun charged up in the final strides to defeat Fisherman, sophomore star of the C. V. Whitney Stable, by a neck in the mile and one half Belmont Stakes.

Seven horses were entered for the 35th gold cup, a tough 2-mile classic, but High Gun and Fisherman appear outstanding. The race will be carried on the CBS television network, 4-4:30 p. m. EST.

Mrs. Phil Bieker's four-year-old Bicahr, winner of the New York Handicap and third behind High Gun last Saturday in the Manhattan Handicap, appears best of the older horses.

William Thomas Retires—As Bell Co. Line Foreman

WILLIAM THOMAS, 65, of 713 Brown St., Stroudsburg, has retired from the Bell Telephone Co. after 44 years of service.

He started as a lineman with American Telephone and Telegraph Co. at Scranton. He retired Oct. 1 as a line foreman, a position he had held since 1922.

He has lived in Stroudsburg 25 years, is a former resident of Springbrook, Pa.

Friends honored him Thursday night at a party at VFW, Stroudsburg, where he was awarded membership in the Telephone Pioneers of America. Making the award was John Rowe, Scranton, telephone company engineer.

Mr. Thomas is a member of the Masons, Keystone Consistory, Shriners and the Stroudsburg Methodist Church. He is married and has one son, William J. Thomas, of Stroudsburg, and a daughter, Mrs. Eunice Smith, of Port Jefferson, L. I.

Commercial Club Of High School Elects Officers

OFFICERS for the East Stroudsburg "commercial club" have been elected for the year.

Carol Cramer is the new president; Beverly Bogart is the vice president and Rosalie Seum is secretary-treasurer.

The group is designed as a service club. It does work for faculty members and school clubs. Membership is limited to senior students who can operate the office practice machines at the school.

Dr. F. T. Munson will be out of town Oct. 19-20-21-22.—Adv.

Democratic Candidate FOR GOVERNOR

GEORGE M. LEADER

State Senator George M. Leader, Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, is one of the many young Americans who made up their minds during World War II to work as hard for their country in peacetime as they had fought for it on its far-flung battlefields. Returning from his service as a Navy officer on an aircraft carrier in the western Pacific, he immediately plunged into politics in York County, where his father before him had served as State Senator for many years, and where the Leader family had taken a prominent part in community affairs since Revolutionary War days. He became Secretary of the York County Democratic Committee and later was twice elected Chairman.

Then he went on to the State Senate in his father's footsteps. Meanwhile, he took out a GI loan and bought a farm on which he set up a poultry and hatchery business. Now his Willow Brook Farm, located near Dover, York County, are known throughout the east as outstanding in their field, and produce over one million baby chicks every year. During the campaign they are being managed by Senator Leader's charming and capable wife, the former Mary Jane Strickler, whom he married in 1939. There are three Leader children: Michael, aged nine; Frederick, aged four; and Jane Ellen, born in February 1954.

The Leaders, who are Lutherans by heritage and tradition, absorbed many of the religious precepts of the Brethren who today are known through the Big Valley as the Plain People, a simple, industrious, thrifty, God-fearing, peace-loving clan.

In the State Senate, Senator Leader gained early notice for his grasp of state problems and for his diligence in seeking a solution for them. He was always on the job, contributing freely of his time and knowledge. His special interests were in the fields of more liberal aid for education and better agricultural legislation, but he was always found on the side of those from the urban districts who fought for better labor laws, too. His record is that of a man who put principle first, who believes that good government is the best policy, and who was the state government to really be a servant of the people.

Senator Leader attended the public schools in York County and then entered Gettysburg College. He later enrolled at the University of Pennsylvania, where he received his degree in 1939, and where he remained for graduate work at the University's Wharton School of Commerce and Finance, majoring in Public Administration.

By training and experience, by temperament and character, Senator Leader is eminently well qualified to be the kind of Governor Pennsylvania so badly needs. He is a Leader by nature as well as by name!

Jackson Township Child Hospitalized With Polio

A TEN-YEAR-OLD Jackson Township boy is now in St. Luke's Hospital in Bethlehem suffering from polio.

The boy is Arthur Koerner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Koerner, Stroudsburg RD3. He is a pupil at Jackson Township School in Reeders.

He was taken to the Bethlehem hospital, which has a special section devoted to polio treatment, on Tuesday night, according to his family's physician.

He is one of three children in the Koerner family. The two other children—both younger than Arthur—are not suffering from polio.

The physician, Dr. Edward Horn, Tannersville, said the boy's sister had been taken to St. Luke's where a thorough series of tests showed she did not have polio.

Dr. R. Frederick Jones said last night no complete report has been made out yet on the Koerner case. Dr. Jones is Monroe County medical director.

He is one of three children in the county's available supply of gamma globulin was turned over to Dr. Horn for use in inoculating members of the Koerner family.

Dr. Jones said he would contact Harrisburg today in an effort to

Joint Assembly Program Planned

WILLIAM Lloyd Davis, a ventriloquist, will be the featured attraction at a special joint assembly for East Stroudsburg High School and Junior High School students Monday morning.

The program will be held Monday at 8:40 a. m. in the Junior High auditorium. Davis has two talking "dummies"—Punchy and Judy and a "character" dummy known as "Ivan," a ferocious Russian who is "easily irritated."

Carl Secor, supervising principal of East Stroudsburg schools said last night the assembly is another in the series of "fine entertainments" planned for school children this year.

Dr. W. R. Erickson will be away from his office Friday and Sat., Oct. 15 and 16.

Utilities Work Around Clock To Restore Services To County

Cleanup Work Expected To End Today

A POWER - CRIPPLED Monroe county began to clean up after Hurricane Hazel yesterday.

Hard-hit utility companies worked steadily through Saturday and Sunday. Officials said last night the situation was almost under control.

Hazel's fury-filled fringe swept through most areas of Monroe County night. The hurricane — called the most capricious and destructive of 1954's female-name-bearing big blows — had cut a wide swath through the county.

It left in its wake hundreds of splintered, fallen trees; dangling power lines and damages which may run to half a million dollars. Homes and business houses emerged from the storm badly shaken but with comparatively little property damage.

At 6 p.m. yesterday Bell Telephone Co. repair crews had restored service to 1800 stations. They still had 800 left to go, according to Budd Van Horn, Bell manager in Stroudsburg.

Van Horn said there were 33 local Bell employees working on crews and that 53 men had been "imported" or sent in by Bell offices from as far away as Pittsburgh. There were 17 installers and a foreman from the latter city, he said.

One of the biggest headaches for telephone operators at the local office was the volume of calls which cascaded into the office Friday night during the peak of the storm and Saturday during its aftermath.

Mrs. Lulu Harvey, supervisor, said 120,461 calls were handled by the local office Friday and Saturday—far above average for a two-day total. Operators handled 48,273 local calls, 6,300 incoming long distance calls and 5,002 toll calls going outside the area on Friday, Mrs. Harvey said.

On Saturday local calls numbered 49,228; there were 5,100 outgoing and 6,538 incoming.

Both Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. and Metropolitan Edison, serving Monroe County power consumers, were heavily hit by the storm officials indicated.

Last night at 6, Ted Henning, Metropolitan Edison manager locally said his company's crewmen should have "everything cleaned up by tomorrow (Monday)". Whether the clean-up job was finished today would depend largely on the weather, Henning said.

The Metropolitan Edison manager said he had nine construction crews working. By 6 p.m. yesterday the crews had restored complete service to Delaware Water Gap, Saylorsburg and most of East Stroudsburg.

Two major trouble spots still remained to be handled by M-E workmen: there were lines down on Bartonsville Road and at Silver Lake, Henning said.

Service was also still "out" in some homes because of service lines which had been broken near the home itself, he said. Most of the cases would have to be handled individually, he said.

Henning said the company had been in very bad shape from the storm at the beginning. "We've had poles snapped off at Dingmans. Workmen are replacing two poles up there now."

Service to the Milford-Route 6 area had not been completely restored, the manager said. Most of Bushkill was "back in—except for a little between Milford and East Stroudsburg" at 6 last night.

Henning—who had estimated that all of his company's 6,000 customers had suffered a power blackout after the storm—said his crews had worked "day and night" to bring back service. Last night, he said, an estimated 100 subscribers were still without power.

PP and L manager Paul McBride, Mount Pocono, said his company still had about 1070 subscribers still without service at 6 p.m. yesterday. A small portion of these, he said, would be restored between 6 p.m. and quitting time last night.

All available PP and L crewmen from every department were called in to work after the storm, McBride said and one "extra crew" had been sent in from Allentown. (Continued on page two)

Wood Calls For 18 Year Voting Age

HARRISBURG, Oct. 17 (AP)—Lt. Gov. Lloyd H. Wood, Republican candidate for governor, today called for reduction of the voting age from 21 to 18 years.

"Government to function properly, must attract competent people willing to make a career of public service," Wood said in a statement.

"There is no room in government for political drones," he added. "The people demand service from their public servants and, under my administration, they shall get it."

Hurricane's Death Toll Soars To 127

President Calls For Aid To Hurricane Stricken Areas

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN A HURRICANE HITS A BREEZE-WAY? Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Morris, 428 Normal St., East Stroudsburg got the answer to that question Friday night when Hurricane Hazel swept past their place. The Morris two-car garage and breezeway was nearly completed. At about 9 p.m. Morris went outside to see how his TV antenna was faring. While he looked at the antenna he heard the screeching of falling wood, found that one side of the garage had collapsed in the high wind. Morris hurriedly rescued the family's new automobile—and just in the nick of time. Minutes later Hazel blew the rest of the garage over.

Churchill Reshuffles Cabinet To Bring Seven New Faces Into His Government

LONDON, Monday, Oct. 18 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill reorganized Britain's Conservative government early today, changing 24 ministers and junior ministers and bringing seven new faces into his three-year-old Cabinet.

Harold MacMillan, 60-year-old book publisher and a personal friend of President Eisenhower, was named minister of defense in the key change. Until now minister of housing, he replaces Viscount Alexander, 62, wartime field marshal and a non-party man, who had wanted to return to private life.

The reshuffle underlined Churchill's own intention to stay on in office and keep Anthony Eden as foreign secretary to strive with him for a lasting peace.

The 79-year-old prime minister's main purpose in the reshuffle appeared to be only to bring younger and stronger men into key posts and allow for the retirement of friends who wanted to step down. New members of the Cabinet beside MacMillan are:

Minister of housing and local government—Duncan Sandys, 46, Churchill's son-in-law.

Minister of education—Sir David Eccles, 50, who as minister of works managed arrangements for Queen Elizabeth's coronation.

Lord Chancellor—Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, 53. He becomes a viscount and in his new post will preside over the House of Lords and be the highest judicial officer in England.

Minister of food and agriculture—Derick Heathcoat-Amory, 54.

Home secretary and minister of state for Welsh affairs—Gwilym Lloyd-George, 59, son of the late liberal prime minister David Lloyd George.

Osbert Peake, 57, minister of pensions and national insurance. Peake has held this post since the Conservatives returned to power. The shakeup gives him Cabinet rank.

Selwyn Lloyd, 50, minister of state and Britain's representative at the U.N. Security Council, was named minister of supply, the post held until now by Sandys.

Youngest man to assume high rank in the shakeup was 34-year-old H. Anthony Nutting, under-secretary of state in the Foreign Office, who now becomes minister of state. It was not immediately known whether Nutting would replace Lloyd at the U.N. His star has been rising in the Foreign Office and when the change was announced he was in Cairo negotiating final details of a British-Egyptian agreement on the Suez.

Confession Fouls Utah Congress Race

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 17 (AP)—Utah Republican leaders, stunned by one of their congressmen's admission that he had lived as a phony war hero for years, will meet tomorrow to decide what to do about his candidacy for reelection.

Disabled war veteran Douglas R. Stringfellow, the GOP representative, admitted Saturday night his story of wartime service with the Office of Strategic Services was a hoax.

He said he had fallen into a trap "laid by my own glib tongue." Stringfellow's previous version of his OSS service was the subject of NBC's "This is Your Life" TV program several months ago.

The handsome 32-year-old congressman made a hastily arranged radio and television broadcast and said with tears streaming down his face that his war services consisted of a few weeks as a private first class in southern France, who never saw actual combat, although he was critically injured by an exploding land mine.

"I was never an OSS agent," he said.

"I never participated in any secret-behind-the-lines mission for our government."

"I never captured Otto Hahn or any other German physicist..." This he repudiated a legend which had brought him national fame, which played an important role in his election to Congress, and which he had insisted until the very last could be substantiated by secret files of the Central Intelligence Agency.

With the repudiation may have gone his chance for reelection to Congress. He said he would bow to the will of the Utah Republican party.

State Chairman Oral J. Wilkinson said the committee will decide whether to accept Stringfellow's resignation. If so it will pick his replacement to oppose Walter K. Granger, former Democratic congressman who has been campaigning against Stringfellow.

Stringfellow's broadcast hit the Utah public like a bombshell but after the first fevered hours, State Democratic Chairman Milton L. Wellenmann said he is willing to forgive Stringfellow for the mistake he made in living the war hero hoax.

"I feel sorry for him, his family, the Republican party and the state of Utah whom he has represented," Wellenmann said. "But following the wave of sympathy is the realization that a mind that could create that kind of story and live it for nearly 11 years isn't the kind of man we want to represent in Congress."

Carolinas' Governors Seek Relief

By LEE GARRETT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower cut through governmental red tape at an emergency White House session today and authorized immediate and unlimited federal aid to hurricane-stricken areas of North and South Carolina.

He acted at the urgent request of Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina and Gov. William B. Umstead of North Carolina, who telegraphed the President about extensive damage and suffering from Friday's storm. The two governors asked immediate federal aid.

The President notified them he was declaring a major disaster in the affected areas of the two states and added:

"I have allocated to the Federal Civil Defense Administration such funds for federal assistance as are necessary to supplement state and local efforts."

In effect, he gave blank check authority to the agency to spend whatever amount it finds necessary to provide emergency aid to White House press secretary, said there was no estimate of the amount that would be required.

Under normal procedure, the Civil Defense Agency would be called on to survey damage and make a report on which a specific allocation of funds could be based. But the President bypassed that time-taking procedure in making federal money available from his emergency disaster relief fund.

In addition, he directed Lt. Gen. Alexander R. Bolling, 3rd Army commander at Atlanta, Ga., to make available whatever assistance the armed forces can give.

A request from Maryland's Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin for limited aid to three coastal islands is being studied by Civil Defense officials, Hagerty said. No other states have asked for aid thus far.

12 Dead In State Floods

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 17 (AP)—The rain-swollen rivers and creeks of western Pennsylvania began receding today, leaving a toll of at least 12 dead and property damage in the millions of dollars.

The Allegheny and Monongahela rivers last night had reached a high of 324 feet where they converge to form the Ohio here. The normal level at that point is about 17 feet and flood stage is 25.

In the Pittsburgh area Turtle Creek appeared to be hardest hit with property damage expected to reach two million dollars.

At Connellsville, 60 families were evacuated by police and firemen and an estimated 30 homes suffered heavy flood damage.

About one-third of Latrobe was inundated by rampaging Loyalhanna Creek, forcing more than 800 persons from their homes at the peak of the flood.

Strike Still On PITTSBURGH, Oct. 17 (AP)—AFL General Teamsters, Local 249, today voted 661-84 to reject a wage contract proposal to end their 11-month strike against five department stores.

70 Lose Lives In Canadian Provinces

TORONTO, Oct. 17 (AP)—Hurricane Hazel, the worst storm in Toronto's history, claimed a toll of more than 70 dead and missing in its smash at Ontario and Quebec Provinces, latest figures compiled from all sources disclosed today.

Canada received the final punch of the Caribbean-born storm which struck the continental United States first in the Carolinas, plowed a swath sometimes 200 miles wide northwestward and up the Ohio Valley, and took a known death toll of 127 persons on the U. S. and Canadian sides of the border.

In its early stages the hurricane wreaked havoc in Haiti and elsewhere in the Caribbean and lower Atlantic.

Bodies of five more flood victims were recovered today in the Beeton area 45 miles north of Toronto in the upper watershed of the Humber River. This raised to at least 45 the known dead. More than a score are still listed as missing. The great majority of the casualties were in Ontario Province, Quebec reporting only one known death.

The hurricane—a rare phenomenon this far inland—swept through with high winds and 7.2 inches of rain Friday night. It did its worst within a few hours, then blew itself out in the Hudson Bay area.

Thousands were homeless today as the national and provincial governments mobilized relief facilities. The Canadian damage was estimated at 100 million dollars.

Most of the deaths occurred in communities along the Humber, which rises north and west of Toronto and flows along Toronto's western outskirts into Lake Ontario.

Hardest hit were Toronto's western suburbs, particularly at Etobicoke. The Red Cross director in that community said last night he believed 25 persons had perished there.

Streets in the western suburbs were largely free of water today, but basements and low-lying areas were still flooded. As the streams which had been transformed into raging torrents in a matter of hours subsided, rowboat parties still probed the low areas for additional possible victims. Overhead helicopters hovered to spot and rescue any who still might be marooned on isolated knolls.

In Etobicoke the flood claimed most of its victims on one street—Raymore Drive.

Leader Seeks More Buying Power In State

LEBANON, Pa., Oct. 17 (AP)—Sen. George M. Leader, Democratic candidate for governor, said today the only way to strengthen the economy of the state and nation "is by expanding the buying power of our people."

"Organized labor, which has felt the cutting whiplash of severe economic retrenchment, does not go along with the theory that a certain amount of economic downturn is not only normal, but inevitable," Leader said in an address prepared for delivery here.

"We cannot cheer-lead ourselves to prosperity," Leader added. "The wheels of our country's economic well-being rest on delicate balances."

Rhee Thinking Is Dangerous

SEOUL, Monday, Oct. 18 (AP)—An American diplomat today bluntly called "downright dangerous" the economic thinking of President Syngman Rhee as a showdown neared with South Korea over a 700 million dollars in U. S. aid.

The official, who asked that his name be withheld, told newsmen "not one top official in the South Korean government has a high school understanding of economics."

Donovan Dies At Mt. Pocono

WILLIAM D. DONOVAN, 63, of 33 Sterling Rd., Mount Pocono, suffered a fatal heart attack while walking in his front yard at 2:45 p.m. Saturday.

Born in Scranton, he had lived in Mount Pocono the past four years. He was employed by Mount Airy Lodge. He was a member of St. Mary of the Mount R. C. Church, Mount Pocono, and a World War One Army veteran.

Surviving are his wife, Eva Coffman Donovan; daughter, Mrs. Robert Wreski, Mount Pocono; three sons, M/Sgt. William D. Donovan Jr., Tacoma, Wash., now stationed in Korea; James F., of Stroudsburg RD3; Richard, of Stroudsburg; two grandchildren; three brothers and four sisters: James Donovan and Mrs. Marguerite Comrad, Bloomfield, N. J.; Thomas, Michael, Mrs. Ella Jackson, Mrs. Bella Robinson, Mrs. Agnes Joyce, all of Scranton.

Requiem mass will be said at 10 a.m. Tuesday at St. Mary's Church, with Rt. Rev. C. A. McHugh as celebrant.

Friends may call at the residence after 7 p.m. Monday. Rosary will be said at 8 p.m. Burial will be at Swiftwater Cemetery.

William H. Clark, Stroudsburg, arranged services.

Cleanup Work Expected To End Today

At the peak of power-interruption Friday night-McBride estimated 5,000 subscribers were without service. It will take an estimated one to two weeks to get all power service restored to isolated areas, McBride said.

Today, he said, workmen should get "about 800 of those 1070 subscribers back in service—weather permitting."

None of the three major utility companies could make an estimate last night of the total damages to their power pole lines or transmission equipment.

Damages to company equipment, cost of added personnel and the size of the job before them seemed to assure a total expense of several thousand dollars to each of the firms, however.

Also added to county totals would be the dozens of cases where falling trees or high winds themselves had created minor havoc in private homes, barns, smokehouses and garages.

In some areas—where power was disrupted for more than 24 hours—homeowners could also count up hundreds of dollars worth of ruined or damaged frozen foods, material ordinarily kept under refrigeration and partly-destroyed roofs.

'Present Hunger In The Heart' Credited With Reviving Religious Plays In Churches

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (UP)—It was a strange sermon. Voices—sharp and biting, with hurt in them and fear, and hope and laughter too—came from the church sanctuary. The congregation sat intent and staring.

"That was something!" a man said later, and daubed at his eyes. What he had just witnessed was a revival of drama-in-the-church, an old Christian art that got lost some five centuries ago but which today is getting a rebirth with a helping hand from Hollywood.

A lofty-minded band of actors and actresses, set on lending their talents to their faith, is touring the country to give the power of the theater back to the churches, where it began.

"It's the great, sleeping giant of evangelism," said Phyllis Benbow Beardsley, a pert and pretty actress-writer who organized the project. "The churches need what it can give."

The eight performers, all with a string of movie, stage and television credits, have been on the road for 18 months, delivering their sermons-in-action in churches from the West Coast to the East.

With a repertoire of half a dozen plays centered on faith, most of them classics of their kind by such writers as Christopher Fry, the cast performs virtually without props—in the chancel of the church.

Some churches, at first, have been skeptical about letting actors occupy that sacred place.

"Most churches have never known fine drama, so don't know how to use it," Mrs. Beardsley said. "And many people have never seen fine drama in the church, so they don't want to see it."

But when the play is done, the case apparently is won.

Newspaper and church organs across the country have described the unusual service variously as a "rich and moving experience," "devout without sanctimoniousness," and "a stirring message of faith."

The theater world's journal Variety also has hailed performances by the interdenominational group, called "The Bishop's Company."

"It's theater with a plus factor," said Mrs. Beardsley. "It's a way of making goodness and love and wholeness of man in God, understandable—a kind of magic modern churches have never known before."

It was in religious rites, of ancient Greece and Rome, that theater was born, only to lie dormant for 800 years, before slowly reviving in European churches, beginning in the 12th century.

In the Renaissance, "miracle" plays and portrayals of scriptural stories flourished in churches—just as Jesus did much preaching with stories and demonstrations.

But around 1500, the market place took over the art and the church abandoned it—except for Easter pageants and similar affairs.

Its comeback, Mrs. Beardsley said, is a result of a "present hunger in the heart."

Youth Ordered Held For Juvenile Court In Metzgar Case

Child Moved From Critical Hospital List

LINDA METZGAR, 5, Hamilton Township, was removed from the General Hospital critical list yesterday and reported making a good recovery from her double skull fracture while a 14-year-old boy was held in custody in connection with the case.

She was listed in "good" condition for the first time since her grandfather, George Metzgar Sr., found her covered with blood in a cornfield last Tuesday.

The 14-year-old boy was taken before President Judge Fred W. Davis Saturday in connection with the case.

He was ordered held under detention pending juvenile court hearing at a later date.

The boy was placed in the "detention room" in the county jail about 1 p.m. Saturday and was still there last night.

Pfe, Emil J. Weber said the boy told of being with the child when the injuries occurred. Police said he claimed he was "chasing her home" but that she slipped and fell and he fell on top of her.

Metzgar Sr. said he missed Linda about 20 minutes after he saw her in the barn where he was finishing farm chores. He searched and found her standing erect, holding onto a cornstalk, with blood streaming over her face.

A hospital check revealed two skull fractures in the front part of the head, bruises, scrapes and finger marks on her throat.

Metzgar said a stone with blood and hair on it was found more than 100 feet from where he first spotted the child. Her cowboy boots were lying nearby.

Erie Mayor Is Arrested

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 17 (AP)—Mayor Thomas W. Flatley and 40 other men are under arrest today on charges they are involved in a 20 million dollar a year gambling syndicate.

They were arrested yesterday in a series of swift raids in this city of 130,000 on the shore of Lake Erie.

Dist. Atty. Damian McLaughlin of Erie County said nine other men also will be arrested.

The mayor is charged with accepting a $300 bribe.

Other top figures arrested were: Jack Martin, chief police inspector, three counts of accepting bribes, three counts of conspiracy, and two counts of bribery.

Stanley Schwartz, a Democratic party leader, conspiracy to bribe a police officer.

Edward Camilli, a member of Erie's vice squad, four counts of conspiracy, and six counts of accepting bribes.

James Westfield Jimmy Salomone, described by McLaughlin as the "brains" of the syndicate, two counts of conspiracy and six counts of bribery.

The district attorney described the syndicate as a giant conspiracy among the mayor, certain policemen and gamblers to operate a numbers lottery and pin-ball machine payoff racket that netted some 20 million dollars a year.

Jaycees To Meet Tuesday

POCONO JAYCEES will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Wyckoff's recreation hall, N. Sixth St.

Reports from committees will be heard. Further plans for the organization's "Charter Night" celebration, Tuesday, Nov. 9, will be made.

The group is also slated to take final action on its constitution and by-laws. All young men, between the ages of 18 and 35 years, are invited to become "charter members" of the Jaycees now, an official said last night.

To join the Jaycees, contact a member of the organization or the president, Peter Wyckoff, the membership committee announced.

Jail For 108 Days After Arrest For Shooting Deer

A 108-DAY county jail sentence for shooting a deer in closed season has been ordered against an East Stroudsburg man, the sheriff's office reported yesterday.

Harry M. Ludwig, 20, who gave his address as 191 N. Courtland St., pleaded guilty of the violation and was ordered to pay $100 fine and $7.50 costs, or face the jail term.

He said he couldn't pay, and Justice of the Peace Herbert G. Bonser ordered Ludwig jailed.

Prosecutor was Game Protector John Doebbing, who said the shooting occurred in the Shawnee area. Justice Bonser said it developed at the hearing that Ludwig used a .12 gauge shotgun with ball ammunition.

Ludwig told of shooting the deer in the early morning hours, then helping to dress it and place the carcass in a barn along with his gun.

After coming back later in the morning, he said, the carcass and gun were gone.

Police Seek Driver Who Didn't Stop

A DRIVER failed to stop yesterday morning near Saylorsburg after his car collided with two others on Route 12 at 11:55, police of the Stroudsburg station said.

Stroudsburg troopers said telephone alerts had been sent out to all area substations and authorities were tracing the driver.

The missing man's car collided first with the south-bound auto of Oscar T. Scherf, 62, Swiftwater; then with the north-bound car of Minerva V. Brown, 43, Allentown.

Scherf's car went out of control, left the highway near Varkony's Restaurant, and struck an embankment.

Miss Brown's car also left the highway, but she managed to bring it to a safe stop, police said.

A possible fractured left shoulder was suffered by Laura Burns, 53, Swiftwater, passenger in the Scherf car, said police. She was taken to General Hospital, East Stroudsburg.

Police said the missing driver was believed to be a man. He was in a 1949 green Mercury sedan with Pennsylvania license plates, police said. The car would show damage on both sides, police added.

School Board Makes Plans For Dinner

EAST STROUDSBURG school board drew up final plans for its regular "autumn dinner" for boards and school districts sending tuition students to borough schools.

The dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 19 in the junior high school. Districts attending will be Middle Smithfield, Smithfield, Price and Stroud townships in Monroe County; Upper Mount Bethel and Portland in Northampton County; Porter and Lehman townships in Pike County.

All members of the eight district boards will be guests of the East Stroudsburg directors at that meeting as is the custom twice yearly.

The board Thursday night heard an estimate of insurance costs for the high school stadium's new lighting system. After discussion of the estimates, the matter was referred to the insurance committee headed by Carl Hamill.

James S. Bunnell, board secretary, was named East Stroudsburg delegate to the annual State School Directors Association in Harrisburg Nov. 5-6.

Bills in the amount of $7,097.54 were approved for payment. The financial report showed a balance on hand of $1,489.81 at the end of September.

Fire Destroys Three Point Gardens Storage Building

FIRE DESTROYED an L-shaped equipment storage shed at Three Point Gardens Saturday night. Damage was estimated at about $5,000 by Marshalls Creek fire chief Ralph Miller. Cause of the fire was not determined.

The building was owned by David Mazer, owner and operator of the gardens. It was totally destroyed by the blaze.

Firemen from Acme Hose Co., East Stroudsburg, were called to the scene first after the persons who turned in the alarm discovered the Marshalls Creek Fire Co. telephone was out of order.

The Acme firemen arrived on the scene at about 7:45 p.m., succeeded in keeping the fire from spreading to a greenhouse near the equipment shed. Several panes in the greenhouse were broken by intense heat, however.

The shed was used to store a tractor, a truck and other equipment used at the garden. Marshalls Creek Co. firemen arrived on the scene at about 8 p.m., took over the job of wetting adjoining buildings down to prevent spread of the blaze.

The building was constructed of wood with a tar-paper roof. It was one story high.

Wind Rips Windows At Bartonsville

BARTONSVILLE — Two large plate glass windows were blown out of the Jim Kirk service station building Friday night.

The station is located at the intersection of Routes 12 and 611. No other damage was caused to the building.

Reports of damages on private properties were still coming in last night. Several roofs were reported damaged by the storm.

A small corncrib on the Richard Metzgar property near Bartonsville was lifted off its foundation and laid on its side about six feet from its regular site.

Dr. C. S. Flieger will be out of town Oct. 19, 20, 21.

Protective Poconos

Hurricane Hazel gave us practical proof the Pocono Mountains are a wonderful place in which to live.

As the most devastating of all the several hurricanes ripped into Pennsylvania, weather experts carefully charted its course. We were advised this region would be hit by winds ranging from 90 to 100 miles an hour.

That advice came at a time when we'd already been hammered by gusts up to 65 miles an hour. Utilities were battered. Much of the region was without service.

But as the deadline for the "big blow" arrived—there were no 90 and 100 mile winds.

The Poconos took over Hazel, slowed her down, took the punch out of her weight and she was shunted around the area. True, the latter picked up speed and power, but this region had the tremendous good fortune to be protected by its great and beautiful mountains from the worst blasts of a terrible storm.

Associated Press news dispatches carried the story that—first the Allegheny Mountains, then the Poconos gave Hazel a stand-off.

There was no loss of life in the Poconos. Damages were not on a par with other less fortunate areas.

For all this we are grateful to Almighty God and for the beautiful protective Pocono Mountains He gave us.

Hopeful Forecast

When industrial economists agree that 1955 will see definite improvement in Pennsylvania's business, this is a hopeful forecast to be pondered during the cold months of the coming winter.

Too many of us are prone to read a few statistics indicating a slackening of the business cycle with increase in seasonal unemployment, and immediately rush to the conclusion that bad times are upon us and that the breadlines are forming just around the corner.

Nothing could be further from the truth. One has but to look back to the end of the fighting in Korea, when prophets of gloom immediately seized upon the inevitable cut-backs in the war economy as indication that the nation's business was about to nose-dive.

They were actually disappointed, some of them, when the anticipated industrial crash failed to arrive, and went about shaking their heads in disbelief.

These same spreaders of gloom could not have been very happy at the statements by three economists who spoke last week at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce in Harrisburg.

Without exception, the three men declared their confidence in the immediate future of Pennsylvania's economic activities, and while they did not speak of tremendous surges in the business cycle, their very unanimity of opinion about a definite improvement in industry was sufficient indication of its vitality.

This continues to be a land of opportunity, as witness the expansion and development of many new business concerns. Our state and our nation will not return to the hills and valleys of earlier economic cycles, but look to far more moderate changes in the pulse of the nation's business.

George Sokolsky Says...

Unity Synthetically Developed By Social Pressure Is Most Dangerous

Whenever we go through a political campaign, one side or the other attempts to gag free discussion by raising the issue of unity.

The argument runs that if we talk badly about each other, the British, the French and the Indians, to mention only three peoples, will assume that we are disunited.

The assumption is that the British, the French and the Indians have never before heard of an American election which is slightly more polite than a British election.

When Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman were in the White House, their adherents liked the word, unity, and it was the Republicans who enjoyed attacking the Democratic Administrations, which is what an opposition exists for. Now that Dwight D. Eisenhower is in the White House, the Republicans want every argument hush-hushed for the sake of unity.

Nothing can be more dangerous to a free society than a unity synthetically developed by social pressure. Those who complain about conformity ought to look into this attempt to make the whole American people accept the suppression of free debate during an election campaign so that the British, French and Indians, to say nothing about the Russians and the Red Chinese, will believe that we are not disunited. If the argument for unity was wrong in the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations, why is it right in the Eisenhower Administration?

Dr. Philip C. Jessup, formerly of the State Department and now returned to Columbia University, once stated the argument this way:

"Now that they are also attacking the Eisenhower Administration, the sinister nature of the conspiracy of the McCarthy-McCarran axis is clear to all. That crowd will always be opposed to the duly elected leadership of the American people."

First of all, the American people never elected anybody to leadership. In accordance with the Constitution, they choose a President and Vice President, Senators and Representatives. Ours is a representative republic operating with limited powers under a written constitution. To each elected official is designated powers, authorities, duties, obligations and limitations by that constitution.

In fact the Constitution does not set up any system of political parties, in no manner recognizing that they exist. Each person elected is chosen as an individual. Constitutionally he is in no manner bound to adhere to any program announced by a political party and some of the great figures in our history never did abide by decisions made by others. For instance, the elder Robert La Follette was elected as a Republican but he acted according to his conscience. In the current generation, Senator Wayne Morse was elected as a Republican, became independent, and now says that he will vote with the Democrats in the organization of the Senate. He has not been censured or expelled from the Senate nor have the Republicans of Oregon driven him out of their party.

It probably is practical for a Senator or a Representative to stick to the decisions of his party caucus, and when a number of men join together, someone will lead and others will follow. Under the American system, the one who leads need not be President of the United States. Certainly William Borah was a leader when he was a United States Senator, but Warren G. Harding was not the leader when he was President of the United States. In the recent Congress, Senator William Knowland announced that if Red China, he would resign his formal leadership of the Republicans in the Senate, and fight to withdraw the United States from the United Nations.

Was Knowland disciplined for such a rebellious statement? He was not nor could he be. He had been elected by the people of the sovereign state of California to represent them, not to follow a leadership. His responsibility is to the people of California, not to a party caucus or to any individual who may sit in the White House.

What becomes of this concept of obedience to leadership, if the citizens, who choose to vote in the current election, give the Democrats a majority of the Senate and the House of Representatives or in one of them? Surely the Democrats will not follow a Republican President. Herbert Hoover experienced that when he was President and he knows how difficult such a situation can be.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

If a man bites a dog it's news, and if a remark about a bird dog bites a Republican it's Democratic campaign material.

Believe it or not Elsie Maxwell played the piano and SANG on TV this week.

Has the war on Liberace taken a slant as serious as that? Would you say that Sid Caesar made a mistake in deciding against Co-Existence? ... Most of the critics seemed to be saying that "On Your Toes" has developed fallen arches through the passing of the years. ... At any point in this campaign you can jar Secretary Wilson by singing "Buy me that doggie in the window."

... Bob Hope is one of America's funniest men but would be funnier if he didn't take so much self-satisfaction with every gag.

New York City firemen are to be permitted to hold outside jobs when through at the engine house.

We assume that some shops, offices and stores are already putting in brass poles.

Let's hope the new rules won't result in a fireman excusing a slow trip up a ladder by saying, "I'd had a tough day and was ill tired out."

PTK wonders why "The Pajama Game" didn't have a song number "You're the Tops."

In our book one of the most impressive traditions of scene and mood anywhere recorded took place the other day when as great a crowd as saw the world series games there jammed the Polo Grounds in New York for a public service honoring the Mother of God.

The diamond which a few weeks before had seen the violent competition of baseball stars saw 1,000 high school girls forming a living string of Rosary Beads, and where pitchers and pinch hitters had absorbed interest were reproduction of seven famous shrines to the Virgin Mary.

And in the stands and bleachers were 50,000 men, women and children who had passed up all the diversions of Sunday to gather in solemn worship.

It was a moving spectacle testifying to an upsurge of faith and the growing emphasis on spiritual values in a troubled world.

"The Man Who Came to Dinner" on TV showed that Monty Woolley's beard was as good in color as in black and white.

A Federal Judge felt that a $10,000 bond, a sum often asked of an emotional paperhanger for seeking somebody at a picnic, was enough to ask of a top security agency official charged with imperiling the safety of his country.

Only a trivial matter, yes? ... "Wives Should Think Twice Before Walking Out" — headline.

The trend is to consider it par to walk out three times before thinking.

The harsher critics of the Celeste Holm new TV show say this may have been one of the times she wished she could have said "no."

Bingo should perhaps be legalized for charity and church support, and probably will be, but its long operation illegally can't be easily defended and it was strange to see but one group, a Bar Association Committee fair enough to come forth and get the story of a top police inspector, humiliated and forced into retirement for doing his sworn duty.

Nobody could listen and not be moved by former Morals Squad Chief, Inspector Goldberg when he told in a voice choked with emotion, about a long and honorable career terminated because he wouldn't wink at a law violation and brush off a complaint against bingo.

"Cheese" That Attracts All "Mice" Is Publicity

According to an organization called the Relaxation Club, which has just made a survey of its members, the most "relaxed" city in America is Philadelphia.

Drivers swear less in Philadelphia; policemen just give you your ticket without making a speech; local radio and TV shows are more easy going; and people are more restrained and refined and never, never boast about their city.

That may all be so. But perhaps it is due to Philadelphia's relaxing atmosphere that the city has grown to a much lesser degree than many other American cities, such as Los Angeles, Detroit, Chicago, Fort Worth, Dayton—and even New York, the city that certainly doesn't talk about itself but cannot, by any flight of the imagination, be called a "relaxed" city.

I don't think that Americans are what you would call a relaxed race; anyway.

A visiting Englishman said the other day that we are probably the most nervous people on earth. We are always on the move. We are always full of schemes and plans. We must be doing something every minute of the day and most minutes of the night.

Sleep, to the European, he said, is a pleasure; to the American, a chore.

I reminded him of a story I had heard in London when I visited there last time.

In a very famous club the bellboys go around every evening and shake all the members who have been sitting in their easy chairs for three days.

If the member wakes up it is politely suggested to him that he might want to go home. If he does not move, it is just as politely suggested to his nearest of kin that it might be appropriate to call an undertaker.

I don't know how true the story is. It was told me by another Englishman.

Philadelphians, the survey brought out, never talk about themselves.

I admit that it is considered bad manners if an individual talks about himself.

That is just like a newspaper talking about a completely unknown person as "the famous Mr. X" or "Miss Y, the internationally known singer."

Labeling a person famous—particularly if that person is yourself—does not make him famous. Talking about yourself may be compared with telling the store clerk to leave the price tag on a birthday or a wedding gift, provided the gift is sufficiently expensive.

But cities and towns SHOULD talk about themselves. How else is the world going to know about their advantages?

Where would Miami be if it hadn't talked and talked about itself? Or Atlantic City or Hollywood?

My hat is off to all the aggressive chambers of commerce and other organizations, no matter what their names may be, which constantly tout their communities.

That is the stuff of which PROGRESS is made. That is the cheese which attracts the mice—whether these mice be tourists, businesses, capital or what have you.

I am for ever bigger and better cheese!

Tentative title of Ernest Hemingway's own story of his African adventures—and misadventures—is "Cin Is Not for Little Children."

A TV magnate who flew abroad to discuss a possible network appearance for "Papa" H says the novelist suffered his most severe injuries not from his two successive plane crashes, but from a forest fire that swept his encampment shortly thereafter, actually singeing his famous whiskers.

In reply to the natural query, "Why did you suppress the story of the fire?" Hemingway explained to the TV man, "After all that went before, this was just one more thing. Nobody would have believed me!"

In Pierre Berton's lively "The Royal Family," he recalls a sea trip Queen Victoria made to Ireland. The ship encountered dirty weather, and one monstrous wave almost knocked Her Majesty galley west. Regaining her equilibrium with some difficulty, she commanded an attendant, "Go up to the bridge, give the Admiral my compliments, and tell him he's not to let that happen again."

Nevada Battle Rages Over National Committee Post

Politics—A bitter battle is erupting among Nevada Democrats over Lt. Governor Cliff Jones' "capture" of the job of National Committee member following the death of Senator Pat McCarran.

Jones, who has interests in gambling establishments, in Reno and Las Vegas, maneuvered his appointment as Committee member at a secret meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee which also selected Alan Bible, another McCarran henchman, to run for his Senate seat.

Southern Nevada Democrats are up-in-arms over the backroom deal and are threatening to take their challenge of Jones' appointment to the full National Committee when it meets in Washington in December.

Republican campaign chiefs are complaining about being short of funds, but one of the party's money-raising organizations has more than met its quota. It is headed by John Hay Whitney. This organization agreed to raise $100,000 by September 1 and another $100,000 by October 15. It topped the first goal by more than $50,000, and Whitney has told National Chairman Leonard Hall that the second goal will be exceeded by more than $100,000—for a combined total of $350,000 for the GOP campaign chest. Most of these funds go to the party's Senate and House campaign committees.

Sparks—Extra! Extra! Atomic energy has been discovered by certain Washington operators. In recent weeks, four of these so-called "Washington newsletters" have sprung up dealing with atomic matters. The publications are aimed chiefly at industry, and profess to give the lowdown on atomic developments and related matters. Most of the alleged disclosures are culled from press accounts.

White House secretary Sherman Adams personally went to the trouble of denying those reports that Senator Frederick Payne (R., Mo.) would be named Controller General. This prize vacancy has been open for months, and a number of names have been mentioned in connection with it. Most prominent among them is Representative W. Sterling Cole (R., Calif.), chairman of the Joint Atomic Committee. His friends say he can have the appointment if he wants it.

Representative Pat Hillings (R., Calif.), head of the special House subcommittee probing Red infiltration in Latin America, is predicting that former Ambassador William O'Dwyer will make headlines in his forthcoming testimony about Communist activities in Mexico.

The one-time New York Mayor will appear before Hillings' committee in Los Angeles this week, traveling from Mexico City for this purpose. O'Dwyer agreed to do this at a private conference with Hillings in Mexico City.

Flashes—Inside word in Wall Street is that Sewell Avery, longtime czar of Montgomery Ward, is on the way out, but it won't be done by Louis Wolfson, the brass young corporation gobbler who is seeking Avery's scalp. According to financial insiders, the aged businessman will be "retired" by interests that hold big blocks of Montgomery Ward stock. These banks and others are credited with having decided to beat Wolfson to the punch and to replace Avery with a man of their own selection.

The CIO spent $60,000 on a nation-wide political poll by a leading outfit in that business, but its report is not being made public. CIOers give a curious explanation for this suppression: They say the report is so favorable to the Democrats that it is considered unwise to publish it for two reasons: The Democrats may become over-confident and the Republicans may be so scared that they will intensify their electioneering efforts and expenditures. That's the CIO story.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has executed a curious maneuver. Last July, the agency issued an order directing the railroads to list in their annual reports to the Commission both the salaries and expenses of their principal officers. But last week the ICC quietly shelved this order.

The flip-flop followed a vigorous complaint by the Association of American Railroads.

Science's Aids To Travelers

—by H. G. Heller

The wizardry of electronics has gone into the business of accommodation of highway users, particularly on existing portions of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

This service will be extended to the Northeastern Turnpike extension when it is completed from Philadelphia through the Poconos to a point north of Scranton.

These modern devices of science include two-way radio conversation teamed with fingertip speed of police teletype equipment to provide around-the-clock communications between all points of the Turnpike System.

Instituted in the interests of traffic safety and friendly accommodation of travelers, hundreds of the Turnpike employees from police to men in maintenance buildings hear the messages and move into action to cope with the unforeseen difficulties which hit motorists.

That means a driver troubled with any type of problem from mechanical failure to a personal illness can sit where he is with full confidence that a cruising officer will soon observe his plight and will be at his side with facilities of modern science at his command to send the SOS for whatever problem requires a solution.

Motorists can see the impressive microwave towers strategically placed on elevated sites along their course of travel. These towers operate automatically in a portion of the spectrum made available by the Federal Communications Commission.

The system serves the purpose of spreading warnings during the winter season when sudden sleet storms, frequently localized, present isolated hazards.

These and many other carefully planned features of the Turnpike—soon to be extended through the Poconos—are intended solely to accentuate a feeling of driving security among motorists who pass over the great highway.

While the road itself offers unsurpassed opportunities for safe, fast and untroubled travel, nothing is left to chance through employment of all of these scientific measures.

Planners of the Turnpike have set a pattern which could very well be adopted on other highways throughout the nation.

Presence of such service would go a long way toward bringing home to the motoring public that highway planners are concerned with their safety—and that, too, might show a bit more concern for this safety and the safety of others using the highways.

The "Slow Down and Live" slogan would undoubtedly be taken more seriously.

The First-Nighters: After a decade's absence from the spot-and-footlight sector, Vera Zorina returned in "On Your Toes."

This musical delighted New Yorkers and others in 1936.

... Zorina, Bobby Van and Elaine Stritch are responsible for its merriest moments, but

"On Your Toes," according to a majority of the morticians, is on its uppers. Its Cap in Bells has become Old Hat. Regrets were unanimous.

"The Fragile Fox" (with Dane Clark and Don Taylor featured) attracted several embraces, despite its unentertaining theme: The agony and terror of war.

Mr. McClain (of the Journal-American) was the drama's best friend. He blessed it as "a noble play."

A freudian flippancy named "The Tender Trap" is a delight. The first new attraction this season that belongs in a theatre. A very funny show.

Mr. Atkinson of the N. Y. Times (bothered by the humidity and the air-conditioning which failed) scolded the new hit as "not much entertainment."

Well, neither is Mr. Atkinson, when he's picky.

In the Wings: Marion Murray told Jack Dempsey (at his Broadway place): "A woman should never tell her man that another is flirting with her. One night in here I told my feller: 'That guy opposite us keeps looking at me' ... 'How do you know' was his squelcher."

Elaine Stewart, a dreamy was a "Tender Trap" first-nighter.

"Oooh, loook!" one of us giggled.

"That's" signed Geo. Solotareff, "what we used to call Merchandise."

The Telebits: Ray Bolger's half-hour now wisely stresses the source of his star-power. Frisky footwork, of course.

Two new (?) quizzes were added to the torrent, "Guess What It Is" and "Finders Keepers." They distribute numerous prizes—except one: Entertainment.

One of the disturbing teevee trends is represented by weather forecasters who inject bad guys. Hurricane Yawn.

The "Blue Angel" Summer show (most successful of Ch. 2 replacements) is gone after a 4 week extension. It proved boniface Herbert Jacoby can buy talent for teevee with the same skill employed for his night spot.

Teevee's first million dollar giveaway will be "TV Tie Tac Toe." Starts Jan. 2.

Mrs. Arthur Barton is hostess chairman.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Well, the Business and Professional Woman's Club had their bake sale on Saturday morning, though it meant that most of the cakes arrived still warm from the oven and with the icing in delicate condition. However, the power came back on in time for most of them.

In fact, people manage remarkably well for the most part. John Wilson had all the small grandchildren home where an old-fashioned kitchen range was very handy in heating milk. A charcoal burner in the fireplace fed the Elton Halls.

But if 67-mile an hour gusts can create such havoc, we can be mighty thankful that the 100-mile-an-hour steady blow missed us by miles.

The contrast of waking to a still and beautiful morning on Saturday was so great that the whole town seemed to tumble out of bed and out doors. They were raking, picking up rocking chairs from the side lawn, replacing shingles, and comparing experiences before the dew was dry.

Incidentally, girls, there will be an excellent chance to compare experiences at the Women's Blood Donor Day today from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church. I've bragged on the women of this community so much that I can't believe that you won't be all there lined up three deep waiting to give your pint to save the life that might be your own—or someone near and dear.

Anna Davis Is Bride Of J. F. Berger

Miss Anna Mae Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, of Wind Gap, became the bride of John Franklin Berger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Berger, of Stroudsburg RD 2, on Sunday afternoon at 2 before the candlelit altar of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg.

The wedding was performed by Rev. William F. Wunder, pastor, in the presence of the immediate families and a group of close friends. The altar was decorated with bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Berger, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom served as best man and matron-of-honor. Miss Leila Bunnell, Grace church organist played a medley of nuptial melodies.

The bride wore a ballerina length gown of white net and lace over satin with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. The matron of honor wore a street-length dress of eggshell satin trimmed with rhinestones and pearls. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

The bride's mother wore a pink rayon street length dress, black and red accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy-blue street length dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride attended Stroudsburg High School and is employed at the Mode Manufacturing Co. in Wind Gap. The bridegroom attended East Stroudsburg High School and is employed by the Fleetville Service Station in East Stroudsburg.

The newlyweds will be at home to their friends in a newly furnished apartment at 335 Monroe St., East Stroudsburg.

Octogenarians Are Honored At Dinner Party

Brodheadville—A dinner party was held a week ago Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Woodling, of Brodheadville, in honor of Mr. Woodling's mother, Mrs. J. S. Woodling, of Scranton, and her two sisters, Mrs. William Wrigley and Mrs. Alexander McCulloch. All three were over 80 years old.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Erhardt, of Elmhurst, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McCulloch, of New London, Conn.; Mrs. William Wrigley, Mrs. J. S. Woodling and Miss Beatrice X. Woodling, all of Scranton, Pa.; and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Woodling.

Teen-Age Dance At Tannersville On Tuesday

Tannersville—The Adult Advisory Committee of the Pocono Teen-Agers Club met at the home of Mrs. Fred Kresge on Thursday night, Oct. 14 to complete plans for the dance to be held Tuesday, October 19, with Virgil Singer's orchestra providing the music.

Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Clair Bloss. All Teen-Agers are invited. If anyone wishes to bring cakes for cake-walks, same can be featured in order to augment the Club funds.

Tentative plans for a skating party were also discussed. A fine oil painting, suitably framed, painted by a friend of Mrs. Clugston, was donated to the group and will be on display in Metzger's Market.

Cherry Valley Grange Has Booster Night

Cherry Valley—"Booster Night" at the Cherry Valley Grange on Tuesday night had both its serious and light-hearted side.

On the serious side were short agricultural speeches. Donald De Otte spoke of several farmers' problems including antiquated water laws. He urged members to become better acquainted with diverted acreage plans of the government.

Albert N. Cross, vocational agriculture teacher at Stroudsburg High School, listed factors in successful farming, using a flannel-graph to illustrate points. He stressed interest, size of business, records, physical resources and management as prime factors.

He closed by reading a translation of a Roman farmer's duties as written by Cato in 200 B.C.

A group of school children from the Hamilton Township School drew applause with five songs, "America," "Walking in the Evening," "Beautiful Dreamer," "Little Shoemaker" and "The Star Spangled Banner." They were coached by Mrs. Lucy Warner, who played the accompaniment, and were directed by the principal, Henry Fenner.

Mrs. Beulah Snyder and Hans Hauck brought down the house with their rendition of "This Old House." Mr. Hauck also played several accordion solos and Mrs. Snyder played for group singing. Mrs. Marianne Schmidt sang two solos: Brahms' "Lullaby" in German, and "Beautiful Dreamer."

Sheldon Echobert gave a humorous reading on the whims of Model T cars. A movie showing the FFA convention in Kansas City was shown by Floyd Frisbie, vocational agriculture director, and a letter explaining the meaning of Booster Nights was read from the national Grange Master, Herschel Newsom. The program was arranged by Mrs. Sheldon Schobert.

Richard Seidof, master, presided at the meeting and outlined the accomplishments of the local grange during the past year, and introduced the officers. One 25-year member, Henry Fenner, was also introduced.

The next meeting of the grange will be on Thursday, October 28, when a program on the United Nations will be presented, and the combined choirs of the St. Luke's and Neola churches will furnish special music.

All those present were invited to the Halloween Square Dance to be held in the hall on Saturday, October 23.

Local Legion Aux. Members Named To 4-Co. Staff

The American Legion Auxiliary of George N. Kemp Post played a prominent part in the meeting of Monroe, Carbon, Northampton and Lehigh County Council held at Catsaugus last weekend.

Mrs. Bessie Marek, of Tannersville, eastern director of the auxiliary, was in charge of the installation of officers. Among those officers was Mrs. Bette Becker Morgan, second vice president, of Stroudsburg.

Committee chairmen included Mrs. Elmer Heffer, Monroe County for publications; Mrs. Hazel Acherman, Stroudsburg, child welfare.

Missionary Society Studies Migrant Family

The Women's Missionary Society of St. John's Lutheran Church, meeting this week at the church with Mrs. G. Alvin Shook presiding had a program on "Migrant Families."

It was presented in story form led by Mrs. Anna Meisell and presented the hardships and heartaches of a migrant family and their need for integration into community life.

Mrs. Dorothy Rupert read the scriptures. One new member, Mrs. Marshall J. Patton was welcomed. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Edward Wagner, Mrs. Ida Heller, Mrs. Thomas Feller, and Miss Thelma Shaw to the 14 members present.

It was announced that anyone wishing to attend the Allentown Conference next Thursday could get in touch with the president, Mrs. Shook, to arrange transportation.

Mrs. Foley Is Honored At Stork Shower

Mrs. Lorraine Foley was hostess at a baby shower held on October 8 in honor of Mrs. Pauline Robinson of Bartonsville. The bachelorette which held the gifts and the dining room were decorated in pink and blue. Sprays of Fall flowers accented the early autumn shower. A stork occupied the place of honor at the center of the table.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Foley to Mrs. Mary Lee Vican, Mrs. LaLue Charron, Mrs. Dorothy Hayden and Mrs. Helen Rubino, of Bartonsville; Mrs. Myrtle Makosky, Stroudsburg; Mrs. Naomi Stoddard, Blairtown; Mrs. Aylee Heard, Mr. and Mrs. A. Denny Heard and Miss June Heard, all of New York.

Invited but unable to attend were Mrs. Ruth Harmon, Mrs. Floyd Cyphers and Mrs. Valentine Bachman Jr.

Gap PTA To Attend Workshop

The Delaware Water Gap PTA will be represented at the two-county Workshop to be held in Milford on October 23. Mrs. Charles Dutt, Mrs. Henry Kulp, Mrs. William Widdos and Mrs. Delbert Ace will be official delegates. Other members who wish to attend are asked to call Mrs. Dutt who will arrange transportation and make luncheon reservations.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heller, of Stoffel St., recently celebrated their second wedding anniversary. Those who helped them celebrate included Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Heller, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Staples and children, Rosemary and Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Byles, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Van Horn and daughter.

Pocono PTA Officers Installed

Tannersville—The first Pocono Township Parent-Teachers Association meeting of the Fall was held Wednesday night, Oct. 13. George Learn Jr. opened the meeting.

Mrs. Martha Kitchen, president of the Monroe County PTA Council, installed the new officers: Mrs. Joseph Parsons, president; Francis Mooney, vice-president; Mrs. Stanley Hartman, secretary; Mrs. George Newhart, treasurer.

George Learn was presented with a past president's button by Mrs. Parsons.

Mrs. Parsons appointed the following new chairmen: Mrs. David Nielson, program committee; Mrs. Betty Walp, by-laws committee; Marie Paul, hospitality committee; Francis Mooney, publicity; George Learn, magazines; John Montgomery, membership.

Lawrence Wild introduced the following new teachers: Mrs. M. H. Scott Rees, music; Robert Bullock, social studies; Mrs. June Young, home economics; Mrs. Lillian Peechatka, 4th grade.

Mrs. Kitchen gave a talk on the different phases of PTA work and also informed the group of a PTA Workshop which will be held at the Milford High School on Oct. 23, commencing at 9 a.m.

The members gathered in small groups and discussed various types of programs which might be featured at future meetings. The meeting then adjourned to the lunch room, where everyone was served refreshment.

GOP Card Party Postponed Until Tonight

Because of the storm, the public card party sponsored by the Monroe Council of Republican Women for Friday at the Penn-Stroud Hotel was changed until tonight at 7:30.

There will be prizes for each table and additional door prizes. Those attending are asked to bring their own cards. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

SPCA Board Plans Rummage Sale This Week

At the executive board meeting of the local chapter of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, final plans were made for a rummage sale for the benefit of the SPCA animal shelter on Foxtown Hill. The sale will be held this Thursday and Friday at Muranski's store room, East Stroudsburg. Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman is in charge.

At the board meeting George Wakefield reported they had cared for 127 animals at the shelter during September and that they had checked 18 riding stables in the county.

Visiting Mrs. Carpenter

Portland—Mr. and Mrs. William Sprich of Washington, N. J., are the guests of Mrs. E. Randall Carpenter of Port Jervis, N. Y. at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Staeger in the South. Mrs. Carpenter and her grandson, Charles and the Sprichs spent Thursday in New Orleans, La.

This column is being written by candlelight, because, while Hazel's fury is spent, it was vented in my family's direction by tearing the wiring of our house completely away and flinging it, in snarled tendrils, into a neighbor's tree. Until this happened we had no idea how completely dependent we were upon electricity for everything from comfort to recreation. Without television . . . radio . . . reading light . . . record player, or popcorn popper, we were reduced to the sorry fate of having to use our wits to be amused . . . so, we gathered around a candle to play "Hangman," we told a few stories, and when this paled, we resorted to songs . . . everything from "Hi Diddle Diddle" to "White Christmas." Maybe, we decided, Hazel—in a somewhat milder mood—should drop around once in awhile to keep us on our toes in this business of being a family.

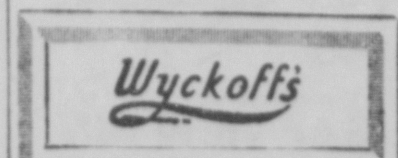

To be sure, Hazel was a vengeful vixen, bearing more ill will than a woman scorned. And all of us, I imagine, were saddened to think of the veritable forest of graceful, old trees, torn and uprooted in her path. There was nothing amusing in the stories of brand new houses with their roofs standing upright . . . or business places suffering the loss of plate glass windows and priceless displays. But for all of this, Hazel had her lighter moments that stand out as brightly against the dull tapestry of her visit as do the gilt threads in our new upholstery fabrics.

There was, first of all, the old fashioned charm of watching customers shop by candlelight in our store, as they may have done almost 80 years ago when Wyckoff's was first in business. There was the chagrin of being so completely dependent upon modern power, one automatically pressed the cash register keys without thinking, only to have the drawers clang open fifteen minutes later when the electricity pulsed momentarily through the wires. Souvillea Bowman can tell you about this particular incident . . . it happened to be her misfortune to be standing with her back to the register when it bounded out to deal a vicious wallop.

It was Souvillea too who had the most delightful customer of the afternoon—a woman enroute to Buck Hill who stopped long enough to buy a black slip. "I'll never forget this," our city visitor laughed. "It is probably the only time in my life I'll shop by candlelight."

Surprisingly enough, the store was busy despite the storm warnings. Teen-agers, dismissed from school, gathered in the center aisle, debating whether or not to go home; housewives scurried in for candles and candle holders, taking as much time as though they were selecting party decorations—doubting, perhaps, that they'd really use the tapers so soon. Our candy department did a rushing business in chocolates, salted nuts, and snacks—we Americans do like to be comfortable and cozy in our hours of disquiet. And Hazel Henning of our Tea Room—as kindly a damsel as we've ever known—protested the giving of women's names to Hurricanes anyway . . . "after all, women aren't THAT violent."

Watching the swinging front doors, and the shoppers who came and went, it occurred to me that, even in hurricane weather, Wyckoff's is the hub of a town's activity. Only one question returns to taunt me . . . why did that one particular customer rush in at the last minute to buy Christmas tree ornaments? THERE is the $61 question!

Speedy Attachment For McCormick Tractors

LOCAL FARMERS who have either a McCormick Farmall H or M series tractor now can get a new cultivator that can be attached in only four to six minutes, according to E. M. Rinehart, III dealer.

Call Gene Hippler today (phone 3495-M) or drop in at his office at 114 N. Ninth St. for an estimate on your job.

Four of the quick-change models are available, Mr. Rinehart said. Two of them, the McCormick H-255 and M-255 are two-row models, which may be converted into a four-row, and the others, the McCormick H-455 and M-455 are four-row models, convertible to two.

They were designed by International Harvester Company for farmers who want to have their tractors quickly available for other jobs during the cotton or corn cultivating season.

"Two hinge-type bolsters mounted at the front of the tractor make attaching very simple," E. M. Rinehart pointed out. "You just drive the tractor between the sections, and then you can use the tractor's hydraulic power to lift the sections while you secure them in position. They can be removed in even less time."

WIRES WERE TANGLED INSIDE the Bell Telephone Co. offices in Stroudsburg, too. To help handle heavy load of extra local calls and try to patch in switchboard as out of order lines were restored, 15 extra operators were called in. Here Mrs. Lulu Harvey, center, works desperately with operators on confusing maze of lines of board. Mrs. Harvey said last night the local office had channelled more than 120,000 calls during Friday and Saturday. Stroudsburg Bell manager Budd Van Horn said last night his crewmen had cleared more than 1800 stations which had been thrown out of order by hurricane winds; still had 800 to go.

THE BAKE SALE held by St. Paul's Young Adult Class on Saturday, Oct. 9, proved a financial success and the sponsors wish to thank all who supported same so generously.

The Grange Penny Supper held Saturday night, Oct. 9, in the firehouse, was much enjoyed by all who patronized same. The variety of delicious home cooked food made a tempting display and one by one the patrons filled their trays high, with the result the organization realized over a hundred dollars.

and had an abundance of food left over which was disposed of to advantage. Members of the Grange appreciate the cooperation of all workers and the kind patronage of many visitors from other localities as well as nearby friends. Donald Shupp, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Myles Dailey, made himself especially helpful during the serving.

Several members of the Sulthaus family enjoyed a few days at Green Acres over the past weekend. Grange 1415 will hold its next meeting on Friday night, Oct. 22.

RILEY

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Stroudsburg High School had its perfect football record damaged on Saturday night as Bangor earned a 7-0 victory over the Mountaineers before approximately 3,000 people at Gordon Giffels Field. The charges of Coach Jerry Stulgaitis may have lost the game, but the Mountaineers certainly didn't lose any face as far as their loyal fans were concerned. The statistics favored Bangor, but the final score was close enough to cause some doubt about the outcome right up to the final whistle.

The Mountaineers were decided underdogs when the game got underway, but their fine performance against the highly regarded Bangor contingent didn't surprise this scribe one bit. True, I picked the Slaters to win by one touchdown, but I also pointed out that one touchdown was probably all that would be scored in the game. For a change our prediction held water, as Stroudsburg's big forward wall again covered itself with glory—even in defeat.

I was certain from the start that Stroudsburg's line would hold its own, and the big forwards did. The big weakness demonstrated by the Mountaineers was in the pass defense department once again, and this weakness was even more evident than usual due to the fine play of Lou Casciano, one of the finest ends in these parts at the present time. One example remains uppermost in my mind. It was in the third period when Casciano was well covered by two Stroudsburg defenders, but he faked one defender in one direction, the second in another and then made an easy catch of the ball. He's truly a fine football player.

As mentioned above Bangor held an edge in the final statistics, but I can't talk too much about Stroudsburg's line and the manner in which the forward wall conducted itself. Even Bangor fans reported to me after the game that they were surprised at the manner in which Stroudsburg played. I for one wasn't surprised in the least. The Mountaineers could have very easily won the game. They missed two golden scoring opportunities in the first half. If the home team would have tallied only one time I feel that the entire complexion of the game may have been changed.

But while praising Stroudsburg for its fine performance, we can't lose track of the fact that Bangor won the game and in so doing upheld its reputation as a strong squad. The Slaters again feature a fleet of backs who can really pick 'em up and lay 'em down. They are specialists at running the ends and twisting by the secondary after racing through holes in the opposing forward wall. Saturday's visitor also had a good pass offense, with Dick Hess throwing and Casciano doing almost all the receiving.

The one note of sorrow in the Stroudsburg camp following Saturday night's encounter concerned Dick Hintz, likeable field captain of the Mountaineers. Dick suffered a fractured left ankle in the early seconds of the fourth quarter and has now come to the end of his scholastic football career. Hintz had been one of the mainstays of Stroudsburg's forward wall for the past two seasons and had been turning in a fine job as a linebacker this year. Dick's absence could hurt—but it could quite possibly work the other way.

Good football teams, ones that are interested winning games and battling for championships, often size on an opportunity such as this to inflict on themselves that final spark needed to ignite a winning streak, which in turn, results in a championship. Stroudsburg now has the opportunity to win a couple "Mr. Dick," and in so doing maintain its position in the current championship race. Stroudsburg now has a record of three wins, one tie and a single loss, but the Lehigh Valley League portion of the ledger reads two victories, one tie and no defeats.

Whitehall, undefeated in league play, is next on the agenda for the Mountaineers. The game is listed for Whitehall on Saturday afternoon. Whitehall appears to be the team to beat in the Lehigh Valley League, but I have it on good authority that Whitehall isn't up to the Zephyrs of past campaigns, even though it did defeat Northampton for the first time in 20 years. Any club that gives up 56 points, as Whitehall did to Quakertown, it has more than a few weaknesses. Nazareth, of the Lehigh-Northampton League, also rolled up a 26-12 nod over the Zephyrs this season.

ESSTC Rolls Over Mansfield Without Trouble, 28-0

Martinmen Clinch Victory In First Half

EAST Stroudsburg State Teachers College rolled to its third football victory in four outings by easily trampling Mansfield State Teachers before a large "Homecoming Day" crowd, 28-0, on Saturday. The game was played on the Normal Hill field.

ESSTC, featuring a true team victory, scored 21 points in the first half and coasted the remainder of the distance amid the color and dash of the "Homecoming Day" festivities.

The Warriors, outplaying Mansfield in every department, scored within three minutes after the opening kickoff. An unidentified ESSTC lineman recovered a fumble on the Mansfield 48 and the home team was off and running.

Dick Merring, East Stroudsburg High grad, ripped off 25 yards on a twisting run and Dennis Roth blasted to the one, Charley Shaw was thrown on the three, but Merring brought the ball back to the one and Shaw blasted over for the touchdown. Roth, batting 1,400 for the afternoon, made his first of four placement conversions.

The home team scored again in the first period when the Warriors took possession at midfield. A pass from Roth to Wilmont Smith gave the charges of Coach Gene Martin a first down on the Mansfield six. Merring went to the four and Mansfield was penalized to the two. Merring went off tackle for the touchdown and Roth again converted to give the home team a 14-0 edge.

East Stroudsburg, determined to please the large crowd of returning graduates, struck again in the second period when Shaw intercepted a pass near midfield and lugged the ball back to the Mansfield 32. A pass from Shaw to Warren Hoeffner carried the last 20 yards into paydirt. Roth converted once again and the Warriors led 21-0 at halftime.

The Martinmen struck for their final touchdown in the third period. Roth passed to Hoeffner for a first down on the Mansfield 46. Roth lateraled to Shaw on the next play and Charley scampered to the 22. Roth faked back and hit Smith with a pass in the endzone for the touchdown. Roth again added the extra point from placement.

ESSTC featured its second and third stringers in action almost all of the fourth round.

The game had a pro-like flavor as a total of 40 passes were thrown, 20 by each team.

East Stroudsburg will attempt to land its fourth victory in five outings Friday night when the Warriors oppose West Chester, on the latter's home field.

Cronin Likes Deal

BOSTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—Boston Red Sox General Manager Joe Cronin when informed a Philadelphia syndicate had purchased control of the Philadelphia Athletics said tonight "We feel that what ever the Mack's wanted, that's what the Boston Red Sox wanted." Cronin declined further comment.

Pittsburgh Sports Figure Dies

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 17 (AP)—John L. Hernon, 62, chairman of the Pittsburgh chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America, died today in Mercy Hospital.
Hernon, who had been hospitalized several weeks, was the father of Jack Hernon, baseball writer for the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17 (AP)—An eight-man Philadelphia syndicate today purchased control of the Philadelphia Athletics, ending the 54-year-old dynasty of the Connie Mack baseball family.

The syndicate, in a last ditch maneuver, saved American League baseball for the city of Philadelphia.

Last week the American League had approved an almost certain sale of the A's to Arnold Johnson, a Chicago businessman, who would have transferred the team to Kansas City.

Roy Mack, executive vice president of the club, was given until 11 a.m. tomorrow to decide whether he would sell the club to Johnson.

However, Roy was able to negotiate with the Philadelphians who combined to save the team for Philadelphia.

The syndicate issued a statement which said:

"Roy Mack today announced that his father, Connie Mack, his brother, Earle, and he have sold control of the Philadelphia Athletics to a group of eight well-known Philadelphia businessmen.

Roy declared:

"I have notified William Harbridge, president of the American League, that we have agreed to sell to this fine group of civic minded Philadelphia businessmen. I have requested league approval. Our lawyers are now meeting and are drafting the necessary legal documents.

"I am very, very happy to be able to keep the A's in Philadelphia. That has always been my goal."

The new owners bought 91-year-old Connie Mack's 302 shares for $604,800. They gave Earle Mack, retiring general manager and also an executive vice president, $450,000 for his 163 shares. Roy remains as a member of the syndicate.

The new owners who will elect a board of directors later, are: Arthur Gallagher, a trucking firm executive; T. R. Hanft, an investment banker; Barney Fisher, oil and automobile industrialist; Isadore Slep, owner of the Raquet Garage Corp.; Morton Liebman, son of a Philadelphia department store magnate; Arthur Rosenberg, food chain executive; Jack Rensel, Philadelphia advertising agency, representative; John Criscoli, automobile dealer; and Roy Mack.

The nine men actually will be listed as the new owners, although some may sell portions of their holdings to others. A limit of 25 stockholders was set.

Each of the nine men own an equal share of the total stock. The syndicate is prepared with enough operating capital to hire

Cavilan Risks Welter Title Against Saxton

By The Associated Press

WELTERWEIGHT Champion "Kid" Gavilan and cocky, young Johnny Saxton of New York will make a third try Wednesday night to wage their 15-round title fight.

The twice-postponed affair, scheduled for Philadelphia's Convention Hall, an indoor arena, and will be telecast (CBS) coast to coast starting at 10 p.m. EST. Philadelphia and a 100-mile area around the city will be blacked out of the TV with the exception of New York City.

Originally the bout was scheduled for July 14 but Gavilan suffered a hand injury and it was put off until September 1. On the eve of that date, the 28-year-old Cuban came down with the mumps.

The International Boxing Club is co-promoting the title scrap with Herman Taylor of Philadelphia. The IBC's weekly Friday show will come out of New York's Madison Square Garden this week for the first time in six weeks with once-beaten Floyd Patterson taking on Joe Gannon of Washington in an eight-rounder.

Patterson is the fourth ranking light heavyweight contender. Gannon, a rugged, ex-cop from Washington, D. C., is known chiefly as "Rocky" Marciano's sparring partner but he's no pushover. Starting time is 10 p.m. EST, for the NBC broadcast and telecast.

The third coast to coast TV bout of the week will be beamed from Phoenix, Ariz., where Jimmy Martinez of Phoenix and Pedro Gonzalez will clash in a middleweight 10-rounder Saturday night. This one starts at 9 p.m. EST, and will be telecast by ABC.

Paddy Young, one-time high ranking New York middleweight contender, continued his comeback campaign against Jesse Turner of St. Louis in a 10-rounder at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway arena Monday night (ABC-TV) 10 p.m. EST.

In another Monday night scrap, 20-year-old Ramon Tiscareno of Mexico and Los Angeles makes his New York debut against Gerry Dreyer of South Africa at St. Nicholas Arena 10 p.m. EDT, Dumont, N.Y.

A welterweight match in Los Angeles Thursday night matches Ramon Fuentes, contender from Los Angeles, and Billy Graham, former number one welter contender, from New York, in a 10. Art Persley, number three light-weight contender from Red Cross, La., displays his talents in his home territory Sunday October 24, when he faces Carl Coates of Baltimore in New Orleans.

Kansas City Disappointed In Failure To Obtain Franchise

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 17 (AP)—"We had opened our heart and our home to someone who appeared in need of shelter."

That's what L. P. Cookingham, city manager of Kansas City, said when told tonight the Philadelphia Athletics had been rescued by their homefolk and wouldn't be coming to Kansas City.

Cookingham, outwardly disappointed that a "sure thing" had backfired and that Kansas City, for the time at least, would be denied a major league franchise, added:

"Kansas City remains a major league city without a major league baseball team. Our citizens voted overwhelmingly a $2,000,000 bond issue to ready the stadium for big league baseball contingent on the sale.

"Our citizens pledged the purchase of more than 800,000 season tickets. There were thousands of pledges for single game seats not even counted. Friends in our neighborhood cities 150 miles or more around gave us a vote of confidence and pledged full support."

John McDermott, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce sports committee which initiated the drive several years ago to get a major league franchise here, commented:

"Disappointed, just plain disappointed."

Sports editor Ernie Mehl of the Kansas City Star who was a leader in the fight to bring the A's here, said:

"We made an honorable effort to get the franchise. If we are off of the picture then we wish the best of luck to the Philadelphia syndicate that intends to keep the franchise in that city."

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

MONDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries): According to your chart, caution, accuracy and sagacity will be needed all day to combat opposition. Good resolutions backed up by hard work will help considerably.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus): Your self-reliant and determined nature will be a big asset today. Stick to sound theories, and study before acting. Realize your capacity to handle just as much work, don't overdo.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini): Make the most of situations honestly and without fussing. Short journeys may be profitable, but care, God will bless you.

June 21 to July 20 (Cancer): Be sure you "read" your word and hold to agreements. Unexpected rewards may surprise. Protect the young and all those under your care. God will bless you.

July 21 to August 20 (Leo): Put into operation able planned ideas and follow through to commendable results. Don't forget little obligations to family, associates or work. Smile and help others to do so.

August 21 to September 20 (Virgo): Dedicate your work and activities to the more important, but you owe yourself some thought for the future also. Make it a fifty-fifty matter and be happier. Plans now stress concentration.

September 21 to October 20 (Libra): Fine congratulations. Look forward with fortitude; many things should turn out satisfactorily. Don't be too disturbed if others oppose you; they have their right of difference.

October 21 to November 20 (Scorpio): A. M. best for essential duties, conferences, business schedules. Personal contacts. Immediate situations can improve. Avoid contentious angles that could upset, cause needless annoyance.

November 21 to December 20 (Sagittarius): Use your share to make things run smoothly; it will further future plans. Don't let your mind wander. Some advantages from unexpected places, friendly sources.

December 21 to January 20 (Capricorn): Look out for backfires, repercussions from hasty action. Move ahead cautiously. Your natural ability and gentleness are bulwarks in the face of opposition.

January 21 to February 20 (Aquarius): Pop yourself up if you are feeling down. You are doing better than you should, or if you are just waiting for something to happen. Awaken to new action.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces): Constructive ideas and plans can bring you top success today. Keep it up. Careful background work will enhance ultimate results, make general effort easier.

You BORN TODAY have many and varied job characteristics: are financially reformed, artistic and just in your dealings. You have nature and all things beautiful; will aid the "good" and fight earnestly for high principles and those who uphold them. You are a natural leader, but you must be your interests. Be mindful of advantages, opportunities that further advancement. Avoid extravagance, especially for pleasures. Save; invest with wisdom.

THE GREEN THUMB: Tuberous Begonia Storage; Gladiolus Bulbs Require Extra Care In Handling TUBEROUS BEGONIAS: Don't leave your tubers outdoors to freeze! You can get a lot of mileage out of your begonia bulbs. We've seen some tubers over 20 years old, and still producing husky blooms. After you dig your tubers, wash them free of mud and dirt. Some gardeners leave the soil on until it dries, but it's our belief that this encourages rot at the crown. Also, removal of the dried soils is apt to injure the skin and to the big roots which often do not entirely dry (and which are helpful the next season). If you have a piece of stem left on the tuber, leave it on because after a few days it will drop off by itself. If you cut it with force, you'll leave a wound. Some tuberous begonia specialists turn the pots on their side and store them that way, in a dry location. This system works. The tubers should be thoroughly dried before you store them, regardless of whether or not they've been washed. Put them in the sun a short while, or in a well-ventilated room. A couple weeks of curing will eliminate or prevent rot. Keep the tubers one row deep in shallow trays or boxes and sprinkle some peat (dry) or clean sand, just enough to cover them. A 45 to 50 deg. temperature in the cellar is ideal for them during the winter. Gladiolus Care: Because of wet soils and continued damp weather. ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY RECORD — IT PAYS!	Freezer Owners We Are Now Offering FOR SALE COWS CALVES And Some BEEF CATTLE Clinton Custard Craigs Meadows, Pa. ## Lack Of Power Fails To Halt Church Event

DELAWARE WATER GAP — Lack of electric power failed to postpone the centennial dinner for the Presbyterian Church here — the celebration went off on schedule Saturday night at Shangi-La.

With an estimated 135 in attendance, the dinner was prepared and served by candlelight and lanterns which were suspended from the blades of powerless electric fans overhead.

Seated at the speakers table were Rev. and Mrs. Luther Markin; guest pastor Rev. Rowland White and his wife and son, from New Wilmington, Pa.; Rev. and Mrs. David C. Newquist, Shawnee; former elders J. Elmer Young who came from Elizabethtown for the celebration and G. Raymond Rinehart, Philadelphia; Rev. John Carter, Methodist pastor from Pen Argyl and the local church's six elders and six trustees.

Rev. Carter gave the invocation before dinner. An anniversary cake was carried in by ten high school girls, all dressed in white blouses and dark skirts, who sang "Happy Anniversary to Our Church."

The after-dinner program, called "Chestnuts and Corn" by Rev. Markin, was opened by Rev. Newquist who asked his audience to enjoy the celebration, but to remember what the centennial "really means." Rev. Carter told of a tree which had blown down near Portland, saying that 24 hours later the tree had been sawed up and much of it burned. The church had also stood 100 years, he said, but its effect continued on through eternity.

Main speaker at the dinner was Dr. J. Christie Wilson from the Princeton Theological Seminary and former missionary to the Moslems in Persia. He urged those present to remember that "100 years in the sight of God is only as yesterday when it is past. We must have patience and wait for God to work out his plans. While we're waiting we must reach out to all the world with the Gospel."

Dr. Wilson said the centennial celebration was not to be used merely to "pat ourselves on the back" — but to reconsecrate ourselves to the Lord.

Sunday morning service was held in the church with Rev. White as the guest pastor giving the main sermon. In his sermon he asked the congregation to "think of God's power on this church in the past 100 years. We do not walk alone, we may walk in the power of God — but we must know Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord and we must accept his Holy Word as the ruling guide in our lives."

Rev. Markin read letters of congratulations from former pastors Rev. Robert MacCachran in Adrian, Mich.; Rev. Hubert Newton, Seattle, Wash., and Rev. Mitchell Anker, Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. William Huling, widow of a former pastor who died this year.

After the services a covered dish dinner was served in the Sunday School rooms of the church. A "hymn sing" was conducted in the church after the dinner.

Fire Company Organized At Promised Land

PROMISED LAND — Organized fire protection for this area, heavily populated during the summer months, is about to become a reality.

Meeting at the Promised Land Inn last Wednesday night, the Promised Land Civic Association voted to act as the sponsoring organization for the proposed fire company, to be known as "The Promised Land Volunteer Fire Department, Division of the Greene-Dreher Volunteer Fire Association."

The new company will operate under the charter of the Newfoundland group. Financing will be aided by the existing 1½ mill Greene Township levy on all property between the Remerville corner and the Palmyra Township line and real estate located on the shores of Promised Land Lake.

Appointed to serve as the committee to handle the actual organization of the company were Levi Blank, chairman; Roy Kistler, Alvin Luckey, George Rehlig, Calvin Rose and Lester Meyers. Present equipment, a 500-gallons-per minute trailer-mounted pumper which was turned over to the new group by the parent company, is housed at the Wilson Inn. Plans for the acquisition of land and the eventual erection of a fire house were discussed at Wednesday's meeting.

Next meeting of the association was set for Dec. 15 at the Old Rangers' Inn. All members are urged to attend.

Following the meeting, lunch was served to 34 members present. Levi Blank was host.

Rod-Gun Club Plans Dinner

BRODHEADSVILLE — The West End Rod and Gun Club completed plans for a game dinner Oct. 22 at a meeting held in the Brodheadsville Hotel here.

The affair will be held at Johnny Deibert's Chestnut Hill Inn. Members announced they had completed posting the lands over which the club operates with the regular, legal-form trespass signs and with others marking off game refuge areas.

Next meeting will be November 11.

Philadelphia on Friday to spend the weekend with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Siel Magnolia.

Mrs. Edward Kern, of Newton, N. J., was home with her parents from Friday night to Sunday morning.

A number of people from here attended the home coming which was held on Sunday in the Blakeslee Methodist Church, and had the pleasure of listening to Dr. Virginia Blakeslee.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Siffice and family, of Nutley, N. J., called on the Durland family Sunday afternoon.

Stroudsburg High School's Students Name Class Leaders

STROUDSBURG HIGH SCHOOL students named class officers this year in an election which more closely paralleled actual political life than any before, according to school officials.

Results of the election, in which candidates "campaign" for offices, were announced this week. The following students were elected:

Seniors named Floyd Frisbie as president, Ruth Fetherman as vice president, Audrey Albert and Mildred Kulp as secretaries and Margaret Haney as treasurer. Senior class student council members named were Judy Cramer, Anita Sabatine, Ada Zugel, Walter Adelman, Donald Diebler, Bob Forney and George Stoeckel.

Sophomores elected James Welsh president with Don Hickey named vice president, Mary Ann Cincotta elected secretary and Bob Adelman, treasurer. Student council members elected were Mary Ann Cincotta, Judy Powell, Betsy Parks, Steve Flagler and William Hickey.

Competition for offices was most keen in the senior class races, according to Miss Lillian Stark senior adviser. Seniors, Miss Stark said, made up campaign slogans, engaged in campaign oratory and turned on their best brand of political charm in the race for offices.

The election was managed by the school's student council organization. After school opened for the new year, students in grades 10, 11 and 12 were asked to register by "wards" in order to vote. In registering, they signed their names and home room numbers.

The percentage of students registering and voting was much higher than the national average for any elections, nearly 95 per cent cast ballot and nearly 100 per cent registered.

The seniors were asked to cast a "preferential" ballot so that their votes were cast for candidates in the order in which they preferred them. (Example: four names were listed for president. Students placed the number one beside their first choice, two beside the second choice, etc.)

Both other classes voted a "straight" ballot — casting a vote only for the one person they wanted to win the post.

This year's election was not the completely realistic one school officials hope eventually to see, Miss Stark said. In the future, she said, the school will try to hold regular primary elections for the selection of "party" candidates also to help present a full picture of political activity to the students and give them a working example of electioneering.
